Soybean harvest in full swing

First reaction to guaranteed pay cautious

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is being urged to scrap the maze of federal public-assistance programs in favor of a proposed new welfare program guaranteeing poor families a minimum annual income of $3,600.

Named the Income Supplement Program, the plan was developed over the last year in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and has been circulating within the President's Cabinet the last three weeks.

HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger said initial reaction has been cautious.

HEW planners estimate the program's first-year cost at $21.6 billion. Although as many as 42 million Americans might be eligible because of their low incomes, the department believes that 10 million of that number would not apply for their cash benefits.

The proposed plan would replace Aid to Families with Dependent Children, which covers 10.7 million persons at an annual federal-state cost of $8 billion; Supplemental Security Income aiding 3.3 million aged, blind and disabled poor; the food stamp program, which has doubled in cost to more than $4 billion the last two years; and clothing and housing allowances.

"All of this is predicated on agreement and willingness to put all these existing programs into one," Weinberger said in an interview. "If we're talking about adding a new program on top of everything else, I am the first man to oppose it."

In a draft memo obtained by the weekly National Journal, Weinberger argues that the proposed plan, a form of negative income tax, would make Congress more keenly aware that sweetening the welfare pie in the future would require tax increases.

Weinberger said in the interview that if a more liberal Democratic Congress were elected next month, public assistance programs already on the lawbooks would come under strong pressure for benefit increases.

The President is being told that the present welfare system is a runaway nightmare, which distributes assistance inequitably to the poor, at a total cost no one has yet been able to tabulate.

"I would hope the President would decide whether he wants to include a proposal of this kind in his State of the Union Address," Weinberger said. "That's what we are pointing for."

The Income Supplement Program contains a strong work requirement, to appeal to conservative legislators. Every able-bodied recipient would have to apply for work and take an offered job.

Juvenile arrested in hold up

DEXTER--- The Stoddard County sheriff's department and the highway patrol arrested a juvenile boy at approximately 10 a.m. Saturday in connection with the armed robbery of the Fina Service station on Highway 60 north of town.

Station attendant Richard Walker said the youth walked into the station at 6:40 a.m. Saturday carrying a .22- caliber rifle with a paper sack over his head and demanded the money. After taking the money, Walker said the youth disappeared behind the station.

The youth was later picked up for questioning and reportedly, admitted the robbery.

The boy was arrested only three hours later by Deputy Sheriff Bob Barker and highway patrolman Kenneth Lancaster.

City to receive construction bids

CHARLESTON— The City of Charleston, will receive bids for the construction of water system improvements, including water lines, water treatment plant modification and appurtenances until 5 p.m. on Nov. 19, at City Hall. City Clerk Velna C. Brown said today that, all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud at that time.

A pre- bid conference will be held at 10 a.m. on Nov. 12 at the City Hall.

Bids are invited on the several items and quantities of work as shown in the tabulation of bid quantities and all items must include unit prices for all items and quantities of work.

The contract will be administered by the City of Charleston, or it's duly authorized representative.

Monthly partial payments, in cash, will be made to the contractor for the total value of work completed to date and materials properly stored on the site less: (1) 10 per cent of the total amount, to be retained upon final payment; and (2) the amount of all previous payments.

Contract documents, including drawings and technical specifications are on file at the office of the city clerk, in Charleston and at the office of R. W. Booker & Associates, Inc., (engineer) at 1139 Olive Street, St. Louis, Missouri 63101. Copies of the contract documents may be obtained from R. W. Booker & Associates, Inc. Deposits for the documents will be refunded in the drawings and contract documents are returned in good condition within 15 days after bid opening.

A certified check or bank draft, payable to the order of the City of Charleston, Missouri, negotiable U. S. Government Bonds (at par value), or a satisfactory bid bond executed by the bidder, and an acceptable surety, in an amount equal to 5 per cent of the total of bid shall be submitted with each bid.

Not less than the minimum salaries and wages as set forth in the contract documents must be paid on this project, and the contractor must insure that employes and applications for employment are not discriminated against because of their race, creed, color, sex, or national origin.

The City of Charleston reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any formalities in the bidding.

Bids may be held by the City of Charleston, for a period not to exceed 30 days from the date of opening of bids for the purpose of reviewing the bids and investigating the qualifications of bidders, prior to awarding of the contract.

Burglars hit 2 businesses over weekend

A burglar took $628 from South Side Oil Co. on Highway 61 South sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday.

Police said the money had been hidden in a box in the tire room. The burglar cut a chain and forced open the tire room door to get the money, police said.

Burglars took $30 in bills and $10 in pennies from the Cream Castle restaurant, 801 W. Malone Ave., between 2 o'clock and 4:25 a.m. Saturday, according to police.

Winter will be colder

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances are 14-to-1 that this winter will be colder than last year, government experts said today in urging consumers to begin thinking about conserving heating fuel.

A statement released by the Commerce Department's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration said consumers should start lowering their thermostats earlier this fall to achieve fuel savings, because of anticipated colder temperatures.

By turning thermostats down six degrees, residents of northernmost states could reduce heating fuel use during winter months by 11 to 15 per cent, the agency said. The percentage saving increases in warmer regions, reaching more than 50 per cent in northnermost portions of Florida, Texas and California, the agency added.

However, it said, the actual quantities of heating fuel saved would be much greater in cold areas than in warm regions be-

Disaster benefits total $10 million

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton today said enactment of his disaster assistance amendment has brought $10.8 million in grants and low- interest loans to a 10- county area of Southeast Missouri in the wake of the devastating 1973 floods.

According to Farmers Home Administration statistics releaded by Eagleton, some 1,990 Southeast Missouri farm families directly benefited from the Eagleton legislation with total grants of $7,144,000 and $3,741,000 in one per cent loans.

Eagleton stressed that the disaster funds made available by his amendment were not part of a new program "but assistance these families were entitled to under the law but couldn't get because the Farmers Home Administration decided that it didn't like the program."

The St. Louis Democrat introduced his amendment after learning of FHA's refusal to process farm disaster assistance requests, even though the Small Business Administration was giving similar help to businessmen.

Despite a Presidential veto, Eagleton persisted in his efforts and the measure was finally signed into law in December 1973.

Eagleton said Southeast Missouri was the area hardest hit by the 1973 floods and thus got the lions share of the total $16,840,000 in assistance which the Eagleton amendment brought to the state.

Eagleton also noted that the FHA's statistics were based on 3,866 applications thus far processed under the Eagleton amendment. The final total of such applications is expected to exceed 5,000.

COUNTY	No. of Families	Total Assistance	Amount of Grants
Stoddard	385	$2,425,000	$1,300,000
New Madrid	305	1,530,000	1,100,000
Dunklin	290	1,183,000	1,000,00
Pemiscot	278	1,158,000	1,100,000
Butler	257	968,000	722,500
Cape Girardeau	100	430,600	330,700
Scott	148	715,700	648,900

Mississippi	81	342,600	324,200
Bollinger	52	220,600	119,100
10-County Southeast Mo.	1,990	$10,885,000	$7,144,000

Eagleton will make a final campaign tour of Southeast Missouri Friday, with appearances scheduled in Cape Girardeau, Kennett, Poplar Bluff, Dexter and Sikeston.

Scott's share of U.S. debt is $3.6 million

How much of the money that the federal government collects annually from residents of Scott County via the tax route, is needed to meet the interest charges on the national debt?

How much will the local population be forking up during the current year, through their income taxes and through excise and other taxes, as its share of these interest charges?

The answer is -- approximately $3,645,000. That is their share of the carrying costs alone. It will not reduce by a particle the debt itself, which has now reached the awesome total of a half trillion dollars.

For the nation as a whole, the present cost of carrying this debt is nearly $30 billion a year, the latest figures show.

DAEOC awarded $178,000

WASHINGTON, D.C.-- Missouri 10th District Rep. Bill D. Burlison announced Saturday that the Office of Economic Opportunity has awarded a $178,000 grant to Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation at Portageville, Mo.

Burlison explained that the funds would be utilized to enable DAEOC to continue on a three- month basis, effective Oct. 1, the administration and services currently provided by its programs. The Cape Girardeau Democrat added that 10th District counties sharing the award are Dunklin, Mississippi, Scott, New Madrid, Pemiscot and Stoddard.

11 persons injured in traffic

A St. Louis man received critical injuries, a Doniphan youth received serious injuries and nine persons received minor injuries in eight area traffic accidents over the weekend, the highway patrol announced today.

Jack C. Hunter, 62, of St. Louis received critical injuries at 3 p.m. Saturday on Route C two miles north of Menfro in Perry County when the northbound motorcycle he was riding struck loose gravel and ran off the road.

He was taken to Perry County Hospital in Perryville, then transferred to St. John's Hospital in St. Louis.

Kenneth Lee Kennon, 18, of Doniphan suffered serious injuries at 1 a.m. Sunday 12 miles east of Doniphan on Route C when the northbound car he was driving ran off the road and overturned.

He was taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Four persons suffered minor injuries in a two- vehicle accident at 3:50 p.m. Saturday on Highway 60 two miles north of Essex.

Injured were Kelly and his son, Tommy Kelly, 14, and two passengers in the Hunsaker car, Karen Hunsaker, 4, and Kimberly Hunsaker, 9.

All four were taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.

He was taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Bobby Taylor, 21, of Portageville suffered minor injuries at 4:45 p.m. Sunday one mile north of Portageville on Route E.

He was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

James Kindrick, 29, of Portageville received minor injuries at 2:30 a.m. today on the River Road seven miles east of Portageville.

He was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital.

Marty DeWayne Paskel, 17, of Poplar Bluff received minor injuries at 7:20 p.m. Saturday on Route W 3.5 miles north of Poplar Bluff when the northbound car he was driving ran off the road and overturned. He was taken to Poplar Bluff Hospital.

A Cardwell motorist received minor injuries in a two- car accident at 5:15 p.m. Saturday on Highway 25 one mile south of Senath.

The patrol said the accident occurred when a northbound car driven by Frank Hamilton, 68, of Senath failed to yield the right of way and struck a westbound car driven by Tina Marie Williams, 17, of Cardwell, who was taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

Heritage House project gets $37,128 grant

The Southeast Missouri Area Agency on Aging has awarded the Heritage House nutrition project a grant of $37,128 for the nutrition program meal site located at the Heritage House, 305 Cresap Place. The grant will supply partial funding for 50,700 meals this year to senior citizens.

The Southeast Missouri Area Agency on Aging received nutrition funds from the Missouri Department of Social Services, Division of Special Services, Office of Aging, under the provision of Title VII, Older Americans Act of 1965, as amended.

The Editor is in receipt of more literature for the Missourians for Honest Elections than we get from almost anything else, but there is no money accompanying it, therefore we are not going to run them, especially since I am for honest elections but I am not for Proposition No. 1, and I don't believe that anybody else who has the time and patience to read the legal notice on it is for it either. I don't know what we will do for board members of the school, and the board of aldermen, etc. and the grocery man who has to say who has to spend $500 a year with him or anybody else. As we said before and say again read the legal notice and then if you want to vote for it then I am for you, although I am not going to vote for it.

I've already said something about the Antitrust laws and I hoped that he would bring the labor unions under that and let them be responsible also, but his paragraph concerning other taxes he wants to allow corporations to deduct the dividends paid on preferred stock. What I can't understand is, why he doesn't want them also on common stocks.

WITCHES ARE COMING

Halloween can be a happy time. The contagious excitement of children dressing up as ghosts or skeletons, witches or fairy pincesses, eases many a care. The traditional outing for tricks or treats is full of high adventure for the little ones and the prospect of a month's supply of sweets for their older brothers and sisters.

All well and good. But there is a serious side. Motorists need to be on the alert for costumed figures darting across the streets. And parents should make sure their children don't wander too far from home. An increasingly popular practice is to limit trick- or-treaters to their own neighborhoods. Young children, of course, should be accompanied by an older person.

Vandalism also is often a problem. Youngsters should be reminded that what might seem an innocent enough prank to them could cost someone a good deal of money or effort. It's no laughing matter to find tires deflated, garbage strawn about a yard or windows covered with soap.

The spirit of Halloween, aside from its religious significance, should be one of light- hearted play acting. We don't believe, as the ancient Celts did, that the dead come back to visit their families on Oct. 31. But adults must be ready to fein surprise and fright as the goblins trip up to the front door. In that spirit, Friday morning will bring a pleasant memory to everyone.

GROWING HAIR INDUSTRY

Call it a wig, hairpiece, toupee or cranial doily, the Encyclopaedia Britannica defines it as "an artificial head of hair worn as a personal or theatrical cosmetic adornment, disguise or symbol of office."

According to Ben Z. Kaplan, editor of the "Wigs and Hairpieces" section of the Britannica, Egyptian mummies of both sexes have been found adorned with wigs. The theatrical wig was first used in Greece and later copied by the Romans. But correcting nature's shortchanging of men did not begin in a big way until the 17th century in the court of Louis XIII. From Versailles, the fashion spread throughout Europe.

England followed suit after the Restoration under Charles II when the wearing of the "perruque" (hence the English perriwig, or wig) became general. In Colonial America, wigs were worn by most men who could afford them as symbols of rank and position.

Wiggery got its real boost in the United States, however, with the birth of the movie industry. Then the advent of television after World War II gave the wig and hairpiece industry a jetlike takeoff.

According to Kaplan, who in 1968 founded Universal Winners, which bills itself as the world's first department store for men's hairpiece needs, more than a million wigs and hairpieces were purchased by American males in 1973, resulting in retail sales of about $125 million.

Like most almost every other item, the men's hairpiece has suffered from inflation. The going price for a custom-made hairpiece in 1954 was $150. Today it is $300 up. But they're better made, look more natural, last longer and many now use synthetic hair instead of real hair bought from European peasant women.

THE LIGHT DAWNS

While we don't claim to understand all that is affecting world economics and the problems of inflation, most Americans are becoming aware that we have a bear by the tail -- and so far there is no solution that is politically palatable.

Now that the honeymoon is over for President Ford, he is coming under pressure from various fronts and we won't dwell on his continuing problems with the Watergate aftermath.

But his economic policies are certainly appropriate for review. After stating in his recent press conference that there wasn't to be a depression, the President took a decidedly less optimistic position in his latest speech in Detroit. Referring to the rapid runup in oil prices, he stated: "Exorbitant prices can only distort the world economy, run the risk of worldwide depression and threaten the breakdown of world order and safety. It is difficult to discuss the energy problem without lapsing into domsday language. The danger is clear. It is severe."

While the news is bad, it is encouraging to see that some people in high places finally appreciate the magnitude of the problem created by the enormous boost in oil prices. Recent World Bank estimates reveal that the petroleum exporting countries could accumulate $650 billion within five years. By comparison, the international reserves of foreign exchange in gold owned by the United States now amount to only $14 billion. West Germany, who is sitting on top of the largest reserve pile in the world, has only $34 billion. We have a situation where the two major industrialized countries in the world have amassed only $48 billion in reserves throughout their economic history. Yet, we are asked to believe that, within five years, the oil sheiks can accumulate $650 billion and, within ten years, $1.2 trillion without throwing the world economic system into chaos. This is rediculous. Unless there is a major rollback in prices, the world economic and monetary system is headed for a donnybrook that will make the 1930s look like a tea party.

HELP FOR CHILDREN

Youngsters already are beginning to make the door- to- door rounds with little orange boxes, asking for donations to the United Nations Children's Fund. But the biggest part of the drive will be Halloween, Oct. 31, when the goblins, witches, ghosts and other creatures of that fanciful night will be trying to help destitute mothers and children in the world's developing countries.

Those who contribute to the fund can be assured that it works. In 1973 it trained 107,000 teachers, 2,000 doctors, 15,000 child health workers and 100,000 nutrition workers. In another recent year, it protected 72 million people from malaria and treated 2.2 million children for trachoma and another 980,000 for leprosy.

UNICEF is not just a big give-away. It has strict regulations for the use of its grants. Receiving countries are required to provide such local resources as supplies, buildings and staff, which are valued at an average of $2.50 for each UNICEF dollar. The fund also emphasized long- range development of permanent programs in health services, nutrition, education and family and child welfare, so the countries will not need outside help indefinitely.

UNICEF relies upon donations because, although it is affiliated with the United Nations, it is not supported by that body's budget. We urge Memphians to fill the orange boxes as well as the tricker-treat bags this Halloween.

NEW TIMES AND NEW WAYS

With the passage of years and the development of mass movement of people by air, the utility value of the ocean liner has diminished. In some ways, the nostalgic attachment to the age of the great passenger ship is like that for luxury passenger trains, yet their greatest usefulness is past and a refusal to recognize this fact can prove costly.

In the case of passenger ships, attempts have been made to block authorization for the sale of five vessels to foreign owners. The cost of trying to keep the past alive in these ships has been well documented by the head of the American Institute of Merchant Shipping, Mr. James J. Reynolds. In an open letter to all members of the U. S. House of Representatives, urging passage of a bill to permit the sale of the ships, he says, "Jet aircraft today carry 98 per cent of all trans-Atlantic passengers and ships cannot survive on the remaining 2 per cent... The problem is not solely American. Ten years ago, Britain's Cunard Line had ten ships making 145 sailings trans-Atlantic. Today, it has only one making 13 sailings and that ship, the Queen Elizabeth II ... may be converted to a floating hotel ... It would cost $80 million in operating subsidies for these ships to operate exclusively in the luxury crusie trade ... The annual lay-up costs just to let the vessels rust is over $6 million a year ..."

The companies owning the ships in question desire to sell them and apply the proceeds to the construction of new cargo vessels that would further strengthen the U. S. Merchant Marine to meet the main task ahead. That task is the movement of American goods to keep the U. S. competitive in international commerce. This is a clear case of new times and new ways. Refusal to recognize it as such will prove both costly and futile.

AN UNFORTUNATE FORD VETO ON INFORMATION FREEDOM

President Ford's veto of a good bill to strengthen the Freedom of Information Act of 1966 is puzzling. We can only assume that he got some bad advice from the executive agencies for which most routine disclosures of business would be inconvenient or embarrassing or both.

The proposed amendments to the 1966 act were entirely in order, and language was changed in the conference committee a few days ago to take account of the President's reservations. Nevertheless the veto has fallen, and it has wiped out a lot of good work. If the veto stands or unless Congress can come back with a good bill that can survive, the people will continue to remain in the dark concerning a lot of subjects they need to know more about.

The essential purpose of the law and its refinements was to prevent federal agencies, their political overseers and vested bureaucrats from hiding information from the public under the guise of "national security" or classifications with even less to recommend them. A 1973 Supreme Court decision had said, in effect, that if a document is stamped "classified," a citizen can do little but accept the label. The document is exempt from the law.

That gets to the heart of the question. Proponents of a more open policy are not trying to pry top secret material from the Pentagon or the Department of State. If they were, they hardly would pursue such a public route to covert knowledge. They are trying, instead, to find examples of the bureaucratic waste and political excess that abound in both the military and civilian sectors of the great Washington scene. They are, in fact, trying to get at the very information that is conveniently stamped "classified" and hidden away from the public.

It is difficult to imagine that Mr. Ford really was cognizant of the bill or what was involved beyond bureaucratic discomfiture. The language in the message does not sound like his. There is talk of a "federal district judge" being able to "overturn a determination by the secretary of defense that disclosure of a document would endanger our national security." Of course this is nonsense. The proposal would allow a judge to examine contested materials privately (in camera) to determine if they were properly exempted under any legal category. It ought to be assumed that our federal judges can be trusted not to betray the security of the country.

And if, indeed, any document is sheltered by the secretary of defense, it is hard to believe that a federal judge would not be reasonable. The act is not intended to put the secretary of defense in an untenable position regarding state secrets. It is intended to nail the petty (and sometimes not so petty) brass that may be trying to hide behind the authority of the secretary of defense.

But it is in the civil sector that the act could take on its greatest significance. The nation has just gone through a tumultuous era in which a President was overthrown because information was hidden and lied about. There was a concerted effort to pass off the Watergate break-in as an operation of the Central Intelligence Agency and thereby foist off investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. If this was not a matter that would have been uncovered by the Freedom of Information Act, at least the direction of malfeasance was in the same spirit.

This is hardly the time for the executive branch to act as if it can be business as usual in secreting what ought to be public information.

The Freedom of Information Act is useful only in so far as the people can use it. As it stands, the individual citizen has had no luck in running up against the great brick wall of government reticence and concealment unless he is able to spend a fortune on lawyers.

President Ford has vetoed a good bill and has not given good reasons for his most disappointing action.

The wife returned from the department store laden with packages. "My goodness," yelled her miserly husband, "considering what all that must have cost you, what do you think happened to our nest egg?"

"I'll tell you what happened to our nest egg," retorted his wife. "This old hen got tired sitting on it."

SOVIET PENAL CAMPS STILL EXIST

The great Russian author Alexander Solzehnitsyn appalled the free world with his magnificent account of the sufferings of Soviet prisoners and the inmates of the Siberian concentration camps in "The Gulag Archipelago." But, in spite of that, there may still be good and reasonable men in the free world who think this phase of Soviet history is over.

Solzehnitsyn is reported to be writing another book to bring "The Gulag Archipelago" right down to the present. But we do not need to wait to know the truth. We have the testimony given last year, but almost ignored by the mass media, to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee by Abraham Shifrin, who grew up in Russia and now lives in Israel.

For 10 years Shifrin was in Siberian concentration camps, and then was kept in exile in Siberia for four years more. Finally, in 1970, he was allowed to leave the Soviet Union. Since then he has kept in close contact with other refugees and new exiles from Russia who keep him informed about the Soviet prison camps.

Inmates, Shifrin testified, are forced to work 10 hours a day, in sub- zero cold with only 1,700 colories of food a day. Thirty to 40 prisoners die each night. Their bodies are dumped in the forest and eaten by wild beasts. Many of these beasts are later trapped and their fur sold in Western countries.

Soviet timber and wood products sold in the West are also largely produced by slave labor. Wherever communists rule there will always be many human beings suffering in concentration camps. HLH

WASHINGTON-- And now President Ford should get up some "LOSE" buttons, it seems to me, and award them to some environmentalists who can't see the forest because of a few beautiful trees. These environmentalists are the intervenors who delay, and sometimes prevent, the construction of nuclear and traditional electrical power plants.

In one case these environmentalist intervenors have delayed construction of a vital power facility for nine years though the entire project has been fully investigated and found beneficial to the entire Eastern seaboard.

These ecologists have slowed the sheer process of even obtaining a basic Atomic Energy commission permit for needed plants anywhere from six to 18 months.

They have delayed the building of one plant for fear fish would be killed in the "cooling" lake-- when previously there had been no fish in the oversized artificial pond.

They have cost the government, the economy, the people and the work force billions of dollars in desperately needed "energy," jobs and productive capacity.

In the opinion of some truly profound Washington acientific and political observers, long delays in power plant construction during the oil crunch so imperial the free world, the holocaust may be military, not financial, physical, not economic, war.

These opinions are privately expressed. But this nation now urgently needs several hundred nuclear and regular power plants. But there are now only 50 atomic power installation operative, 69 under much delayed construction and 118 planned or announced.

No one wants the good earth despoiled. But look, please, at an Eastern nuclear power plant which was finally finished and now needs a sister installation to provide energy during this oil crisis.

To construct the first atomic power facility, the builder damned a small fishless stream which had virtually no life in it. It was welled up into an artificial lake for "cooling" the energy- making process. Then the lake was stocked with fish and a recreation area was develped on its shores. Now a second facility is needed close by-- on the lake. But in rush the enviromentalists.

They want assurance the fish won't be killed-- though there had been no fish, no play areas before. Result: a long delay. Long wait for jobs, now much needed by construction workers. And, a longer wait for crucial electric power.

There is another atomic power plant project planned for a Southeast site. It will use a "closed cooling system" requiring no water. But the environmentalists are there too. They want assurance there won't be any change in the temperature of a nearby lake-- which just isn't involved. This requires the taking of temperature readings of the lake and possibly the nearby waterways from surface to the bottom of the waters which just aren't involved. Also the ecologists insist on forcing a full study of the lake's characteristics, etc. Which means considerable expenditures of money and time.

Actually, this means assuring the ecological intervenors that the lake's temperature won't be changed more than a fraction of a degree at any time. No sense discomforting the fish. What discomfort the lack of electrical power might cause the people over a wide area, it seems to me, doesn't appear to enter in all this demand for intricate time- consuming scientific effort.

But perhaps the prize for environmentalist intervention goes to those who have delayed the "Blue Ridge" project in Virginia for nine years. The plain- talking, 42- year- old new president of the AFL- CIO Building and Construction Trades Department Bob Georgine has made a long heart- aching study of the tragicomedy. This standard power plant is needed to help not only the Virginia- North Carolina areas, but the entire Northeast power grid-- which once failed and blacked out a vast sector right up to the Canadian border.

The environmentalists want the New River, which runs in Virginia, to be included in the list of "study rivers" to be reviewed under the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act.

"This legislation," says Georgine,' "is a last- ditch attempt by some environmentalists to halt a construction project... Blue Ridge, a project badly needed to supplement the expanding base load power plants in the East Central areas. A license application for Blue Ridge has been pending before the Federal Power Commission since February 1965. That's nine years. All aspects of the project have been studied in depth by the company, by the commission's staff and by numerous federal, state and local public agencies and organizations."

There have been extensive public hearings. More then 7,400 pages of sworn testimony and 280 exhibits are in the record. The commission has reported that the project from a power standpoint will benefit all electric utility customers on the Eastern Seaboard as well as Virginia and North Carolina. The grid system enables one utility to come to the aid of another if there is a similar blackout threat.

The project will provide fine recreational grounds around the damned- up areas. Blue Ridge will not affect the air quality. It will improve the water supply. And even make fishing better. But still the environmentalists fight it.

These are but a few of the many activities of the dedicated intervenors. As Georgine concluded, if the issue is "living in beauty or living," the choice is obvious. Fish gotta swim, all right. But man must live. And work to eat to live.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Cables show No Proof of Kissinger Cyprus Talks

WASHINGTON -- Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is supposed to be using his diplomatic skills to settle the Cyprus controversy. But the classified diplomatic cables contain no word of the heavy "negotiations" that President Ford has said are going on.

On the contrary, the Turks appear to be settling down for a permanent stay on Cyprus without discussing it with Kissinger. They are setting up a civilian administration in the northern third of the island.

Telephone lines have been strung to the Turkish mainland and former Greek shops are now being operated by Turkish Cypriots. Classified cables from Nicosia also disclose that citrus fruit from Cyprus is being transported to Turkey where it is exported as Turkish products.

The cable traffic also discloses that the Turks have banned all Greek religious services in the occupied towns. Over 170 Greek Orthodox priests have been removed from their parished. Two churches, according to the cables, have been burned to the ground.

INJUSTICE TO INDIANS: There appears to be no end to the injustice inflicted on our neglected native Americans.

Documents in our possession describe severe overcrowding, inadequate care and outright malpractice in our Indian Health Service hospitals.

There is such a shortage of doctors at Oklahoma's Claremore Indian Hospital, for instance, that nurses have been taught to perform surgery.

The documents show they have performed circumcisions and episiotiomies in violation not only of state laws but of the Health, Education and Welfare's Dept.'s rules for protecting human subjects.

Moreover, Indian parents aren't told that nurses were circumcising their babies. Claremore's chief of pediatrics, Dr. Edwin Jones, who has resigned under fire, said he believed the parents would develop "unnecessary anxiety" if they knew nurses were performing the surgery on their babies.

The tragedy is that Dr. Jones felt it was necessary to teach surgery to nurses, thus violating state laws, federal regulations and ethical codes, in order to provide the bare minimum of health care for the Indians.

Footnote: The hospital's chief of staff has confirmed these abuses in a confidential memo to Sen. Henry Jackson, D- Wash., whose subcommittee is investigating Indian health care.

DUAL ROLES: The back door to many a congressman's office can be reached through his law practice. But in the case of two bespectacled, Long Island lawyer- congressmen, the same door has admitted constituents and clients alike.

Reps. Jack Wydler and Jim Grover, both Republicans, came to Congress together in 1962. Each was entitled to a congressional office in his home district, so each simply moved his congressional activities into his law office.

Practicing law and conducting the public business out of the same office was an economy for the congressmen, since the taxpayers put up money for salaries, rent and telephones. But constituents might have wondered whether they would get a legal bill for bringing problems to their congressmen.

Wydler has assured us he separated his congressional and legal offices a couple of years ago.

Grover still serves his clients and constituents out of the same Babylon, N.Y., premises. But he insisted that he pays $205 rent each month of his own pocket on top of the $350 from the government.

He also claimed he supplements the salaries of the two secretaries in his Long Island office, Edith Dirkes and Lorraine Proulx, who draw close to $19,000 a year from the taxpayers.

Grover also put Sam Markowitz on the public payroll for $20,000 a year. However, the latter appears to be working not for the taxpayers, but for the local Republican party. He is reachable at Suffolk County Republican headquarters where he is a press spokesman.

Wydler, incidentally, has accepted campaign contributions from several government contractors, although this appears to be against the law. He received donations from Sidney Horowitz, chairman of the P&F Industries; Frank Lauro, chairman of International Hydronics; A.J. Roach, associated with Telecommunications Industries; and Howard Ris of the Ris Paper Co.

The statue barring contributions from federal contractors, it should be pointed out, is broadly worded and has never been enforced. The Justice Dept. has refused even to issue an advisory opinion on the law's application. Wydler denied any wrongdoing.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Minority businessmen are furious because the Alaska pipeline builders have been virtually ignoring them in spite of a law stressing the need to hire black, Chicano and other minority- run firms. Out of $4 billion in contracts, only around $50 million have gone to minority- operated companies. Latin- origin businessmen are particularly steamed up: they have gotten only $5,000 worth of contracts ... All along, critics of the Federal Energy Administration have been saying it works hand- in- glove with the big power companies. Sure enough, the Atlanta office of FEA has been passing out a press kit prepared in part by the Georgia Power Co., one of the companies FEA is supposed to be regulating.

Vets program planned tonight

PARMA — A veterans program will be held at 7 o'clock tonight in the high school gymnasium in conjunction with American Education Week.

Mayor Randall Ramsey has proclaimed Oct. 27-Nov. 2 as American Education Week in Parma, urging everyone to "stay involve."

Vernon "Smoky" Johnson will be guest speaker at tonight's meeting. Music will be presented by the high school and elementary schools, directed by Mrs. Karen Carman and Mrs. Stanley Ray.

The Parma schools will hold open house today from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

American Education Week, observed annually since 1921, seeks to encourage local citizen support and active participation in the improvement of education. This year the program will stress personal involvement. The nationwide event is sponsored by the National Association, the American Legion, the National Congress of Parentsa and Teachers and the U.S. Offfice of Education.

Fire damages Harris home

Fire did slight damage to the Jane Harris home on Route HH three-fourths of a mile east of Highway 61 about 6:30 p.m. Saturday, according to firemen.

The fire, attributed to faulty wiring in the attic, did minor damage to the roof of the house.

Firemen from Sikeston and Miner were called to the scene.

At 3:09 p.m. Sunday, firemen were called to extinguish a burning tree on Highway 61 one-fourth mile south of Highway 60.

The cause of the fire was not determined, firemen said.

At 8:18 p.m. Sunday, firemen were called to the Roy Jones home, 110 Petty St., after a pan that had been left on the stove started smoking. There was no damage.

On July 14, 1853, U.S. Commodore Matthew C. Perry visited Japan in the first attempt to open Japan to trade with the West, The World Almanac recalls.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite defense objections, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica summoned Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt Jr., to the witness stand in the Watergate cover-up trial today, with neither prosecution nor defense willing to vouch that he will tell the truth.

Hunt, who headed the Watergate burglary team, was the second witness called in the trial of H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John N. Mitchell, Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, all former White House or campaign aides to ex-President Richard M. Nixon. All are charged with conspiring to obstruct justice in the Watergate investigation.

As the Watergate cover-up trial entered the fifth week defense lawyers strenuously objected to using the court witness procedure to obtain what they contend will be unreliable testimony.

Haldeman's lawyer, John J. Wilson, was especially vehement about instructions to the jury on the procedure of calling court witnesses.

"I have never read such a startling charge in my life," Wilson said. "It's deceptive. It's not honest."

Plato Cacheris, one of Mitchell's lawyers, called the procedure an "improper influence on the jury. I therefore resist it and resist it vigorously."

Richard Ben-Veniste, an assistant prosecutor who Hunt claims tried to get him to commit perjury, said there are numerous instances before the grand jury when Hunt lied and that the court witness device would permit leading questions to bring out Hunt's motivations to testify falsely.

David G. Bress, representing Mardian, said what the prosecution was proposing was to "say they have a witness who will make out their case but that witness is a liar."

And chief prosecutor James F. Neal said that the government's theory in the case is "that the defendants conspired to pay money ... to Mr. Hunt to keep him from telling what he knows." He said it was necessary to probe exactly what it was that Hunt knew.

At that point Sirica said he would allow Hunt to testify as a court witness.

The government told U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica last week that Hunt had not been "entirely candid" with the grand jury and asked that he be called as a court witness, subject to cross-examination from both prosecution and defense.

"Even after being granted immunity, Mr. Hunt cooperated with the investigation only grudgingly and, we believe, incompletely," the government told Sirica.

The distrust was mutual.

Richard Ben-Veniste, an assistant special prosecutor scheduled to question Hunt, was described by Hunt in a new book as "a curly-headed, abrasive young man," who "was actually encouraging me to perjure myself."

Hunt said Ben-Veniste had made him a special target and attempted to get him to change previously sworn testimony that he had never received an offer of executive clemency.

Hunt figures prominently in the list of overt acts that the government says led to the conspiracy by the five Nixon White House and campaign aides.

The government charges that Ehrlichman and others discussed the need to assure Hunt about how much time he would have to spend in jail and that Ehrlichman, Haldeman, Mitchell, and Parkinson were involved in arranging for hush money payments to Hunt.

The four defendants are charged with obstruction of justice in addition to the conspiracy count. Mardian is charged only with conspiracy.

The prosecutors charged that on March 21, 1973, after a demand for $120,000 by Hunt, Mitchell authorized a $75,000 payment to him and that on the following day Mitchell assured Ehrlichman that Hunt "was not a problem any longer."

A tape of a March 21 meeting played for the jury shows that the Hunt demand was discussed with then-President Richard M. Nixon.

Potosi man waives hearing

Marvin Eye, 35 of Potosi this morning waived a preliminary hearing on a burglary charge in the Sikeston courtroom in an appearance before Magistrate Tom Brown of Charleston.

Bound over to appear on Nov. 1 in Circuit Court, Eye was returned last week to Scott County from the state penitentiary in Jefferson City to stand trial for a burglary at Amrhein Pharmacy in Illmo. The burglary occurred two years ago.

Eye is currently serving a prison term for burglary and stealing and cattle rustling.

Poplar Bluff wins girls tennis tourney

Poplar Bluff, Caruthersville and Kennett claimed the first three positions in the final standings of the district girls tennis tournament hosted Saturday by Sikeston High School.

Poplar Bluff girls took the top two places in singles competition, as Nancy Gray won first place and Elaine Giambelluca came in second.

A set of twins from Kennett, Tena and Cindy Richardson, came out on top in doubles competition. Ann Vangilder and Anitra McKee of Cape Girardeau Central placed second in doubles.

Caruthersville, which came in as the pre- tournament favorite after an undefeated season, finished third in both the doubles and singles. Jimmie Jean Bullington and Kathy Dodd teamed up for third in doubles and Karen Bullington took third in singles.

Other teams entered were Sikeston and Dexter. The Sikeston entries were knocked out in the second round of competition.

The tournament marked the area's first ever on the district level for high school girls in tennis competition, and a state tournament is envisioned for 1975.

The tournament began at 9:30 a.m. and was played on courts at Sikeston Country Club, Central park and Sikeston High School until 7:30 p.m.

Sikeston Coach Berta Schuerenberg was tournament manager and reported that the event went smoothly and drew a good crowd at all three locations.

3 women priests again defy leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Three women who were ordained as Episcopal priests have again defied their church leaders by celebrating Holy Communion at the nondenominational Riverside Church.

As the women reached a candle-decorated table Sunday at the spot where an altar would have been in an Episcopal church, about 2,000 persons attending the ceremony burst into applause.

Hanging over the chancel rail was a brightly colored sign with the legend: "In Christ there is neither male nor female, bond nor free, Jew nor Gentile, we are one."

The women priests then consecrated the elements of communion, an act historically performed only by male priests. They also gave communion to women and men who did not kneel, another departure from tradition.

The three celebrants said they held the eucharistic service "according to the official authorized services of the Episcopal Church, despite a declaration by the House of Bishops that we are not priests."

The women, the Revs. Alison Cheek of the diocese of Virginia, Carter Heyward of New York and Jeanette Piccard of Minnesota, were ordained in Philadelphia July 29 by four bishops after their diocesan superiors had refused the apostolic laying on of hands.

On Aug. 15 the House of Bishops, one of the governing chambers of the Protestant Episcopal Church, expressed the opinion that the ordinations were invalid. However, the body affirmed its approval in principle of women's ordination.

Karen Dennis to wed Creed Mack Jones

MALDEN - Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Dennis announce the engagement of their daughter Karen Michelle to Creed Mack Jones, son of Mrs. E. L. Jones and the late E. L. Jones, formerly of Gideon.

Karen Michelle Dennis

Births

POWERS— Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Powers, Route One, are parents of their first son, who was born Oct. 3 at Missouri Delta Community Hospital. The boy weighed five pounds three ounces and has been named William Warren.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Austill of Boonville, Ind., and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Warren Powers, Route One. Powers is employed by Auto Tire and Parts Co.

Doctor's Cave is the most famous beach in Jamaica. It is privately owned but open to the public. The sea water is fed by underground mineral springs, making it unusually clear and buoyant.

Cape Girardeau Christmas craft bazaar scheduled

The bazaar includes handcrafted items to be sold by the individual craftsmen who made them.

Limited space is still available to artists or hobbyists who want to join the bazaar.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The 1974-75 season of four operas by the Minnesota Opera will open Dec. 13 with a party for singers and guests and will include a new Christmas opera as John Phillip Sousa might have seen it.

"Gulliver," a story of three of Gulliver's voyages, each written by a different composer, opens Feb. 22. Mozart's "The Magic Flute" in English will open April 4 and Conrad Susa's "Black River."

Ann Landers

Authorities say nicotine addiction mostly emotional

Dear Ann Landers: You said in your column a while back that cigarette smokers are engaging in oral satisfaction that stems from an infantile and immature need.

Did you know that Dr. Sigmund Freud was unable to quit smoking -- although he was well aware that his tobacco habit was extremely damaging to his health -- because of certain physical disabilities which plagued him for years?

Freud's efforts to stop smoking lasted for nearly a half a century. He recounts his persistent craving and the "torture beyond human endurance" when he did abstain for a period of 14 months. Freud was, after all, a mortal man, but don't you think the father of psychoanalysis would have recognized the existence of a psychological problem, if there had been one?

What is there in tobacco that produces the craving? It is nicotine -- and nicotine is habit- forming. I submit, the habit is more physiological than psychological, a problem of the body rather than the mind. -- Another View

Dear View: You cannot separate the mind from the body. They are one.

Of course nicotine is addictive. So is alcohol. But no one knows why some people can use both in moderation and others cannot. The best authorities say the problem is both physical and emotional -- but mostly emotional.

As for Uncle Sigmund, he had many hangups and suffered a great deal. Among other things, he was through with sex at 41. Well-balanced, he wasn't.

Dear Ann Landers: I was annoyed with your lack of support for the person who wrote about the miracles of witchcraft. Have you been living in a cave for the past ten years? Haven't you read about the miraculous things witches have done -- both in laying on curses and removing them?

My sister- in- law, whose hands were covered with warts, went to a woman who practiced witchcraft. Within three weeks every one of those warts disappeared. And all she did was rub a little castor oil on them at night. Her son went to the witch the following month and was relieved of a terrible pain in his neck within four days. How do you account for these happenings? -- A Believer

Dear B.: Any dermatologist will tell you that warts can be gotten rid of WITHOUT a witch if you put your mind to it and rub a little something on them at night.

Many aches and pains -- and even diseases -- are self-limiting. They disappear without any treatment. And this is why I tell people to get another opinion before they agree to surgery. There are too many unnecessary operations performed in this country.

Dear Ann Landers: Do you have room in your column for one more letter on Kid's Lib? When I read that 13- year- old boy's letter I almost threw up.

I am 13 and that letter went all over our classroom. Almost all the kids agreed your answer was great. The two who thought you were too strict are in trouble all the time.

We are liberated enough -- in fact, some of us are TOO liberated. We wish our parents would take us off the hook by saying "NO!" so we wouldn't be called chicken when we don't want to do certain things. Thanks. Ann. -- For You

Dear For: You're welcome. I'm for you, too.

Do you feel awkward, self- conscious -- lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers's booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Mrs. Conn enjoys being scout leader

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is part of a series of articles about Sikeston Girl Scout leaders and their feelings about the program. This article was written by Mrs. Bonnie Conn, who lives at 207 Salcedo Road with her husband Terry and three children, Jennifer, Heidi and Jeffery.)

By BONNIE CONN

How happy I am to be a part of such a worthwhile organization and a member of the Cotton Boll Girl Scout Council, which has many dedicated workers and supporters.

Each girl is an individual with different interests and background, who learns to achieve a certain amount of independence and assume her share of responsibilities. She shares her thoughts and feelings and is eager to learn and try new things -- sometimes meeting with failure, but only to profit from it.

I am just one of many trying to encourage and develop better young girls. If I, as a leader, am effective, the organization is effective.

I wouldn't trade anything for the many happy hours, laughs and disappointments that I have shared with my scouts. It is not only a challenging experience to be a Girl Scout leader, but a refreshing and rewarding one, also.

Yes, I am proud to be a Girl Scout leader.

Veal comes from young calves less than three months old and fed on milk or milk products to obtain its fine-grained, high pink meat.

Troop badge discussed

Woman safety officer named

GIDEON — Mrs. Martha Deprow of Tallapoosa has been employed as the Gideon school district attendance and safety officer, beginning with the current school term. The position was opened due to a new program in attendance services and traffic safety.

Mrs. Deprow, as the attendance officer, has the legal status of a deputy sheriff. She is authorized by law to conduct any investigation necessary and to follow all procedures of search and arrest necessary to enforce school attendance laws. Each absentee is checked daily and a complete file and record is kept on absentee reports made by the attendance officer.

She has, as the safety officer, the status of deputy marshal of the city of Gideon. She directs traffic at the school crossing in front of the high school, morning, noon and afternoon.

The uniform and badget which Mrs. Depro wears has been provided to indicate the importance of the new position in the educational program of the Gideon school system.

At Wits End By Erma Bombeck

Prayer of a Housewife Who Gets Out Once a Year and Tonight is the Night.

Please, Lord, don't let the spots on Laurie's chest mean what I think they mean, and if they do mean what we both know they mean, grant that our sitter has had chicken pox.

Give me the humor to smile when I turn on the bath water and realize that someone has left the knob on "shower" and it drenches an $8 hairdo.

Grant me the serenity to put on my fake eyelashes without gluing my left eye permanently to my cheekbone.

Do not let me despair when my husband arrives home thirty minutes late, with a three- day beard that can't wait, a front seat full of dirty Little League bases that smell like a stable, and then tells me he has to stop at a discount house to cash a check.

Smile upon me this one night so that I may not have to endure a klutz on one side who hums the overture and Typhoid Annie who is sitting behind me and is coughing down my back.

And when it rains (as we know it will) lead us into the nearest gas station so that we may buy the refills for our windshield wipers that my husband has been putting off for three years . . . saying the world is due for a drought.

In Your infinite wisdom, help us to ignore our name as it is being paged in the restaurant as we all well know it is the sitter saying that Michael demands an entire bottle of Pepsi and she will not be responsible for his plumbing if he has a whole one instead of a half.

Walk with us as we get the table by the kitchen door and I get the bent fork and my husband's soup is cold and by the time we get to the dance floor the waltz turns into "Tie a Yellow Ribbon 'Round the Old Oak Tree" and we don't dance fast because my husband thought it was a fad that would go out with Gene Kelly.

Comfort us as we go fifteen miles out of our way for a gas station that is open all night and the sitter is angry because we are late and it is a school night and we have to write her a check for the tip and she's never had chicken pox . . . before tonight.

If I ask too much, Lord, give me the strength to say, "Who needs a night out? I'd rather stay at home."

What's the law?

By: JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

To Wilbur's wife. Wilbur was a boozer. To his more understanding and perhaps more humane friends, he was only a social drinker although perhaps more social than others.

At any rate, he walked into his favorite liquor store, and found that the authorities had posted his name on the wall as an "excessive drinker," barring further sales or gifts of liquor to him.

Hurt to the quick, Wilbur soberly hastened to court where he challenged the validity of his name having been so posted.

"It's perfectly legal," responded the state's attorney. "A state has the right to act to crub the evils of drink. Posting the names of excessive imbibers is one way we have of doing it."

"But I'm no excessive drinker," retorted Wilbur. "When I've had too much, even my wife begins to look beautiful, so I know enough to quit before I reach that point."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you rule that posting Wilbur's name was illegal?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that while States have the power to deal with the evils of excessive drinking, they may not post the names of alleged excessive drinkers without first giving them notice and an opportunity for a hearing. Notice and an opportunity to be heard, concluded the judge, in effect, are essential since a person's good name, reputation, honor and integrity are at stake.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

By Lawrence E. Lamb. M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Last year I met a veteran I assume to be 25 years old (more or less). He lives in another state. I've never seen the young man. He is an epileptic. Having lost an only son in the service, I became interested in his case. I advised him last year that I thought the seizures could be controlled, if the proper medicine was taken. I heard from him again this Christmas. He says he is doing fine and has had no more seizures.

I am angered in this way. He has had two pretty good jobs, and would rather not have welfare. But, as soon as his employer finds out of his condition, he is released from his job.

Would you please comment on epilepsy? What causes it? Can there be a good future for him? What kind of work would be more suitable? I imagine he will need training. I am sure God loves this young man and feel 1974 will be a better year for him, especially since his seizures have been controlled.

DEAR READER — Whether God loves this young man or not, it sounds like you do. He is most fortunate to have someone like you for a friend.

It depresses me to see anyone discriminated against because of a medical problem. Of course, there are circumstances where a person can't work at some jobs because of the danger to his own health or to others. But, there are so many job situations where this doesn't apply. Often the medically handicapped individual's greatest obstacle to a good life is the ignorance and prejudicial attitude of many members of our society.

Epilepsy can be a handicap, but it depends entirely upon how severe the problem is and how well controlled it is. You are right, most cases can be managed so that seizures are rare, if they occur at all. There are even new methods which show promising results of controlling or preventing a seizure by electrical means.

Let me say at once that many qualified people have had epilepsy. Both Julius Caesar and Alexander the Great had this problem. Need I say more? If this man's problem is well controlled, he could do any number of jobs, from manual labor to executive positions that he might be qualified for. He could enter the health field, law, teaching, farming or just about anything.

Because of the uncertainty of a seizure and the safety factors involved, it would be unwise to attempt to hold a job as a pilot or a bus driver, or similar occupation.

The cause of epilepsy in most cases is unknown. The mechanism is that a spot in the brain is capable of giving off large voltage discharges. When this happens, it is like having an electrical storm in the brain. The various regions of the brain are stimulated in an irregular fashion. This stimulates the cells that cause the arms, legs and other muscles to contract, causing the convulsion.

Sometimes this overactive spot is caused from a scar from a head injury. Rarely it may be associated with a brain tumor, but usually it occurs with no apparent reason.

But, whatever the cause, such attacks can be controlled or helped medically in most cases so these people can live a happy normal life. The rest is usually up to the individual and the problems created by society.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on ulcers, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Ulcers" booklet.

Private colleges not affected by high rates

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite climbing tuition rates and other problems, a majority of the nation's private colleges maintained or increased enrollment this fall, according to a study released Friday.

The survey by the National Council of Independent Colleges and Universities included 804 of the country's 1,100 private schools. Forty-nine per cent—394 colleges—reported enrollment increases. Another 25 per cent—202 colleges—reported total enrollment equal to last year.

The enrollment increases ranged from 3 per cent to 40 per cent, a council spokesman said. Although no total enrollment figures were available from the study, the spokesman said over-all enrollment in private schools is certainly up.

The increase comes at a time when the college student pool is declining and when some surveys have indicated doubts among young people in the utility of the liberal arts education offered at most private colleges.

"You have to interpret enrollment increases on independent college campuses, at least in part, as a sign of renewed confidence in a liberal arts-oriented education as preparation for the continuously changing job market," said Thomas Bonner, president of Union College in Schenectady, N.Y.

Howard Bowen, former chancellor of the Claremont colleges in California and a highly regarded education economist, said the job shortages may be causing young people to go to college.

"They may expect the economy and the job market to bounce back shortly and just want something to do in the interim," said Bowen.

The study also reported that 57 per cent of the private schools had larger freshman classes than last year and 23 per cent had freshman classes of about the same size.

The National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant colleges last spring predicted a decline in freshman enrollment at public institutions across the country. It would be the first peacetime decline in enrollment at public colleges and universities.

The enrollment increases at private colleges come at a time when rising tuition had been expected to decrease their appeal.

The College Entrance Examination Board reported that a student living at the private school would pay an average of $4,039 this year, up 9.4 per cent or $346 from last year and up 35.8 per cent since 1971.

By comparison, a student living and going to school at a publicly supported college or university will pay an average of $2,400 this year.

Highlights and Sidelights

Eagleton- Curtis is top race

JEFFERSON CITY — The 1974 general elections will be held Tuesday (Nov. 5) to select a U. S. Senator, state Auditor, 10 congressmen, 17 state Senators, 96 Representatives and, technically, 13 circuit court judges.

Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick estimates 56 per cent of the Missourians registered to vote will actually take part in the election.

"It looks like 1974 will see a drop in total vote and in the percentage of voters casting ballots," Kirkpatrick predicts. "People seem unhappy with the political system and more willing to 'drop out' than get involved and help correct its flaws."

The tip race on the ballot is the one for U. S. Senator. Incumbent Thomas F. Eagleton faces former Congressman Thomas Curtis in a contest most observers feel Eagleton will win handily.

Both Curtis and Eagleton publicly say inflation is the number one issue in their campaigns, but both take different stances toward a solution.

Curtis, the Republican, feels inflation is directly caused by excessive federal spending and over- extension of the federal government. Eagleton, the Democrat, would cut federal defense spending and foreign aid spending while eliminating the oil depletion allowance for the oil companies.

In the only state office election this year, Auditor John D. Ashcroft is seeking election to his first full term in the post. Gov. Christopher S. Bond appointed Ashcroft is succeed him in the aduitor's office when he was elected governor in 1972.

Ashcroft's Democratic opponent, George Lehr, has promised the first priority of his staff, if elected, would be to audit the Missouri Public Service Commission and use the auditor's staff to examine utility rate increases as protection for consumer interests.

Republican Ashcroft has stressed the savings he says have been realized from his auditing over the past two years, and stresses further professionalism of the auditor's office.

There will be twenty candidates for the 10 U. S. House of Representatives seats. All incumbents are running for re-election, and the Missouri delegation in 1975 is expected to remain 9-1 Democratic.

Seven of the 10 state Senate seats up for election this year were filled during the August primarly election. But, even without any upsets in the general election, the state Senate will have the biggest turnover in several years since three incumbents chose not to run for re- election and two more were defeated in the primary.

In the Missouri House, where all 163 representatives must run every two years, 96 seats will be contested Tuesday. The other 67 already have been filled by primary elections. In those primaries, Republicans won 19 seats without Democratic opposition and Democrats won 48 without Republican opposition.

Democrats need only 34 more seats to control the House, and they are expected to get them. Because only half of the state Senate is elected in any election year, Republicans cannot gain control of the Senate.

There also will be two constitutional amendments and one proposition on Tuesday's ballot.

One of the constitutional amendments is a housecleaning measure substituting the age 18 for 21 in the Missouri Constitution regulating voting ages. The other would authorize municipalities and counties to incur indebtedness for the construction of industrial facilities.

Proposition One is the complicated and controversial campaign financing proposal which was placed on the ballot through initiative petition.

New musical features 28 top Beatle songs

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom O'Horgan, known for his direction of the Broadway hits "Hair" and "Jesus Christ Superstar," has put together a musical that features 28 songs made famous by the Beatles.

"How many shows have there been with this many hit songs?" asked O'Horgan.

"It is closer to the 18th century 'Beggar's Opera' than anything," O'Horgan said, referring to the story made up of current tunes of that time. "No songs were written just for that show."

"Sgt. Pepper" will open in a house built for vaudeville and movies and lately used for rock concerts, the Beacon Theater, on Nov. 14. The show's 32-member cast put on a run-through performance Thursday afternoon here.

The show will play in Hartford Nov. 4-10 and open in New York for four weeks. There are plans to bring the show later to Philadelphia, Chicago, Baltimore and other cities.

Robin Wagner, who worked with O'Horgan on "Lenny" and "Superstar," had the idea for the Beatles' show first, O'Horgan said.

O'Horgan said, "... We've long dreamed of doing something for an alternate theater. There were a lot of people who resisted going to 'Jesus Christ Superstar' because it was on Broadway. They don't like that kind of formality.

O'Horgan said, "Robin and I took the 'Sgt. Pepper' record and thought we'd do an elaborate concert with it. After we got into it, we felt it would be an ideal vehicle for this kind of theater.

The Rev. Charles E. Harris, 74-year-old retired minister of McMullin, who was injured on the morning of September 11 when he was struck on Highway 61 by a car, died Tuesday in Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape, where he had been confined since the accident.

The marriage of Mary Baker and Sidney L. Schillig, both of Sikeston, was solemnized Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Baker in Cape Girardeau.

The foundation is now being laid for the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lancaster on Matthews street. This will, when completed, be a modern four- room house, with basement.

Funeral services for Mrs. Price Faris Hess of Charleston, who died of heart trouble at a Cape Girardeau hospital Sunday, were held Monday.

Eleven Sikeston men were accepted at Jefferson Barracks October 25, according to the Scott County selective service board. They were: Clyde Barber, Charles Theodore Morgan, Richard William Schlegel, Charles Graham, James Thomas Brovillette, Donald Denver Thomasson, Ules Arlen Hobbs, Earl Raymond Kelton, William Cleon Porter, William Boyd Neal, and James Daniel Denton.

The Rev. Wm. D. Butler, 72 years old, a Missionary Baptist Church minister and farmer near Benton, died of pneumonia at Missouri Baptist Hospital in St. Louis early Sunday. He had undergone an operation last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rider left Saturday for Washington, D. C. where they will make their home. Mr. Rider has previously been employed as a mechanic at the local M. I. A.

Mrs. J. W. Gilliam, who has spent the past three months with her daughter, Mrs. James Coats, left Friday for Elgin, Ill., where she will make her home.

A daughter was born Friday at St. Francis Hospital, Cape Girardeau, to Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Felter of Benton.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Herbert of Dexter are parents of a baby girl born at the Delta Community Hospital on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Miller, jr., of Benton are parents of a son born Sunay at Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape.

Word was received here by relatives of the death of Mrs. Maggie Gray, who died at her home in Fredericktown Tuesday, due to infirmities of age. She was 93. Mrs. Ella Hunter, Mrs. Lillian Miller and Mrs. Margaret Anthony of Sikeston are nieces of the deceased.

Sikeston, a perennial powerhouse in the Southeastern part of the state, took the top post among Missouri high school football teams in the mid- season poll of the Missouri Sportswriters Association.

Rather a chilly weekend seems to be indicated but you never can tell. Yesterday's high was 60 and last night it dropped to 40.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Killian and daughter, Donna, who have resided in Garden City, Mich., for several years, have returned to Sikeston to make their home. They have been guests of his sister, Mrs. Herbert Yancey and family. Mr. Yancey is in Mobile, Ala., where he has secured employment and his family plans to join him there as soon as a residence is secured.

Burlison asks city to advise on treatment

PERRYVILLE-- Tenth District Rep Bill Burlison asked Perryville businessmen Thursday night to keep him advised abut their experiences with the city's new waste treatment program.

"Because one of my appropriations subcommittee jurisdictions is the Environmental Protection Agency, I would be most appreciative of your thoughts as you observe this program from your grass roots perspective," Burlison said while addressing a Chamber of Commerce quarterly meeting.

The city of Perryville has received Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) grants in excess of $2 million for the construction of a new waste treatment plant, lift station and two interceptor sewers.

Burlison cited a controversial section of the Clean Water Bill that requires all users, including businesses, to pay a proportionate share of capital, operating and maintenance costs of any waste treatment facility constructed with federal funds under authority of the Federal Water Pollution Act Amendments of 1972 and said that many small business enterprises fear they will suffer economically because of the user charge requirement.

This has been the case with Perryville, Burlison said.

It is extremely doubtful that Congress will repeal the user charge requirements, Burlison said, but added that he thinks some relief might be granted to business concerns that suffer extreme hardship due to the EPA regulations.

"If it can be shown that complying with the waste treatment user charges causes an undue or excessive economic burden on a particular industrial plant, then steps should be taken to grant a waiver of the user charge," Burlison said.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS

STRAIGHT TICKET

SPLIT TICKET

If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates on more than one party ticket, by voting what is commonly called a "split ticket" he may place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below one party name and mark cross (X) marks in the squares at the left of the names of candidates on other tickets for whom he wishes to vote.

Where there are two or more candidates for like office in a group, a cross (X) mark in the square to the left of a candidate's name automatically votes against the candidate whose name appears within the same horizontal lines in the column under the circle in which appears the cross (X) mark, unless the voter indicates another candidate to be voted against by drawing a line through such candidate's name.

WRITE-INS

If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates whose name or names do not appear on the printed ballot he may do so by drawing a line through the printed name of candidate for such office, and writing below such canceled name the name of person for whom he desires to vote, and placing a cross mark in the square at the left of such name. The squares so marked shall take precedence over the cross marked in the circle.

All candidates of the party whose circle is marked shall be counted as voted for excepting where squares are crossed preceding the names of the candidates in other columns. If two or more candidates for the same office are thus designated, neither shall be counted. If the cross (X) is not placed in the circle immediately below the party name at the head of the column, but does appear in the squares opposite the various candidates' names, then only these names shall be counted for, and none other. A cross (X) mark is any line crossing any other line at any angle within the voting space, and no ballot shall be declared void because a cross (X) mark therein is irregular in form.

It is unlawful to deface or tear a ballot in any manner or to erase any printed name (except as provided above in this section), figure, word or letter therefrom, or to erase any mark made thereon by the voter, or to enclose in the folded ballot any other paper or any article. If the voter defaces or tears a ballot, or wrongly marks the name or makes an erasure therein, he may obtain one additional ballot on returning to a judge in charge of the ballots the one so defaced or wrongly marked. He shall at once mark and vote the ballot and the spoiled ballot shall be marked "void" in the voter's presence. A person who does not vote a ballot delivered to him shall, before leaving the polling place, return the unvoted ballot to the judges having charge of the ballots.

A ballot placed in the ballot box without any marks shall not be counted. Ballots shall be counted only for the person for whom the marks thereon are applicable; when a voter places a mark against two or more names for the same office, and only one candidate is to be chosen for the office, none of the candidates is deemed to have been voted for and the ballot shall not be counted for either candidate.

Before leaving the booth the voter shall fold his ballot in such a manner as to conceal his marks thereon. He shall mark his ballot without undue delay. He shall then deposit his ballot in the ballot box being used at that time and shall quit and leave the enclosed place as soon as possible.

World News in Brief

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — A lengthy ordeal appears in prospect for most of the 17 persons being held by a Palestinian guerrilla and three other convicts in a prison chapel. The four men who took over the chapel at Scheveningen Penitentiary Saturday night during Mass freed a man, a woman and three children Sunday. But Dutch authorities said they would not enter into detailed negotiations until they freed two more women and a child.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi gave Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger a frosty reception at the start of his visit to mend relations between the United States and India. But both agreed today that those relations are "on the way up."

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — An impasse over the rival claims of Jordan and the Palestine Liberation Organization to future control of the West Bank of the Jordan river is blocking discussion of other matters at the Arab summit conference. No compromise appears likely.

TORONTO, Ontario (AP) — Margaret Trudeau says the stress of being the wife of Canada's prime minister, anxiety over the birth of their second child and her first active political campaign all contributed to the mental troubles that sent her to the hospital last month for psychiatric care.

may be realized by comparing them with the outlays for other governmental operations, as detailed in the 1974 budget.

The $30 billion required for interest this year is three times more, for example, than the government is spending for education and manpower training combined.

It is over four times the amount that is being spent in the field of health care and five times as much as is going into general revenue sharing.

The only way to wipe out this burden would be to pay off the debt of $495 billion, which is practically impossible and is seldom suggested.

Scott County's share of the repayment, based upon local incomes and population, would be over $60,143,000.

family in Scott County, it means that some $320 of the amount being collected from them annually by the government is to pay the interest on the debt.

The debt ceiling has been raised frequently in recent years, chiefly to cover deficit spending. President Ford has asked Congress to help eliminate such deficits in the future by reducing governmental expenditures.

Since 1960, according to the Treasury Department, the interest on the national debt has soared from $9.2 billion a year to the present level of $30 billion.

The net effect, for Scott County families, is that they are paying more than three times as much in carrying charges as they did then.

Just how large these interest costs have become

3 fined in Police Court

PORTAGEVILLE — POLICE Judge Taylor Noles Sr. imposed three fines today in Police Court. Louis Raymond Savat was fined $80 for driving while intoxicated and reckless driving, Merrill Nanney was fined $35 for careless and reckless driving and Bill Jeffords of Marston was fined $45 for driving while intoxicated and driving on the wrong side of the road.

Crump home is burglarized

MATTHEWS - The Bobby Crump home on Highway 80 four miles east of town was burglarized sometime Saturday or Saturday night.

Odd coins valued at $60, a tear gas pistol and assorted jewelry were reported stolen.

A front door had been pried open, according to New Madrid County Deputy Sheriff Fred Roe.

NEW MADRID — Four arrests were made by city police during the weekend, according to Marshal Virgil "Flip" Dees.

Joe Ross and Willie Lee Humphrey of New Madrid were released under bonds of $100 each on charges of driving while intoxicated, and Junior Brown of Catron posted a $25 bond on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a license.

Sylvester Grandberry was fined $10 today by Judge G. G. Dawson for peace disturbance.

Felony charge filed against Prairie man

CHARLESTON — A felony charge of possession of a dangerous and deadly weapon while intoxicated has been filed against David Holifield, 28, of rural East Prairie, following his arrest Saturday night,.

Deputy Sherifff Norris Grissom said today that Holifield is accused of shooting through the back window of a car driven by Sam Story of Charleston with a .357 magnum revolver about 8 p.m. Saturday as the Story car passed the Holifield home, two miles northeast of East Prairie.

The bullet went through the rear window, struck the front windshield, glanced off and imbedded in the dash. The bullet missed Glen Nunn, a passenger in the Story car, by about two inches.

Holifield, who is free on bond, will be arraigned Thursday in Magistrate Court.

Insurance fraud scheme uncovered

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—A suspected scheme by doctors to defraud insurance companies by reporting fake illnesses has been uncovered in the St. Louis area, Missouri Insurance Supt. Edward G. Farmer said today.

"Fraud is the word," Farmer said. "We'll name the dates, places and doctors."

He would not reveal any dates, places or names at this time, however.

Farmer said 33 insurance companies and about 40 persons were involved, although he didn't know exactly how many doctors were involved.

"We're working closely with the U. S. Attorney," he said. "It could be a $3 million to $30 million loss. It's nationwide...we want to scare these people so they won't do it again."

The investigation had not uncovered any similar incidents in Missouri other than in the St. Louis area.

Reporters for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat posed as patients and the doctors filled out medical insurance forms, a Division of Insurance spokesman said.

The Globe reporters helped Insurance Division agent Pete Dakarus and other agents on the eight-month investigation. The investigation was disclosed today in the first of about eight planned articles, Farmer said.

Farmer said the Insurance Division got onto the scheme through a complaint with his office.

Farmer said the alleged injuries, usually to the back or neck, were the kind difficult to diagnose and contest in court, often reportedly resulting from a fall.

A physician would back the false insurance claim, Farmer said. The doctor would admit a policyholder to a hospital and receive fees from the patient and group insurance payments.

Farmer said the fake illness reports involved employment sick leave, accident insurance and medical insurance. Some persons held as many as 20 policies with various companies, Farmer said, and they would make a claim for one injury with all the companies.

Investigators posing as patients said some doctors would charge up to $15 for signing sick leave statements.

Farmer said his investigators had not discovered any fake workmen's compensation claims for on-the-job injuries. However, he said, sick leaves could force an employer to hire an inexperienced person who might more easily be injured on the job.

Jaycee's remain strong

At Middle School field Saturday Little league football action resumed when the Jaycee's defeated a vastly improved Bank of Sikeston team 14- 6. JC's kicked the opening kickoff into the end zone and BS started play on the fifteen. After a series of downs BS fumbled and Scott Pool of the JC's recovered. Halfback Kevin Shelton of the JC's swept left end to the BS one. Shelton ran the same play and scored. Shelton was called on again and ran the point after in.

In the second quarter Bank of Sikeston's Tim McKinney skirted end for a 15 yard run to the JC one. Quarterback Danny Smith scored on a quarterback sneek. Point after missed. Half JC's 7 BS 6.

Early in the third quarter JC Paul Freeman swept left end for a 35 yard carry to the BS 2. On the next play Brete Blanton scored on a run around right end. Buzz Ferrell scored the extra point on a quarterback keeper right. Band of Sikeston's Floyd Greer returned the kickoff to midfield. Jaycee's held from there on and when they had their turn on offense fumbled and BS Tommy Sanders recovered.

In the fourth quarter Bank of Sikeston penetrated the JC defense to the ten but couldn't score. Final 14- 6. Bank of Sikeston looks like the most improved team on the field today.

Bulldog 8th post 4th win

Coach John Heacox's eighth grade football team ran their season record to 4- 1 Saturday afternoon at Perryville with a 28- 16 victory and are scheduled to meet Charleston Thursday afternoon at Public School Stadium in the final game of the campaign at 5 p.m.

The future varsity football stars rolled up a 14- 0 lead in the first half before allowing the Pirates to get on the scoreboard.

Jay Cox passed to Jeff Young for 25 yards and a first quarter TD, ending a 65 yard drive the first time they got the ball. Gary Leonard ran the ball for a two point conversion and a 8- 0 lead.

Leonard dashed 25 yards minutes later on a triple option play to run the score to 14- 0 as the extra point kick failed.

Perryville scored in the second period on a 75 yard pass play and added a two point conversion with a run to make the halftime score 14- 8.

Both teams battled through a scoreless third quarter as Sikeston had two TD's called back on clipping penalties.

Scott Heeb sped 32 yards for a fourth quarter score to make it 20- 8.

Jay Cox set up the final Sikeston score with an interception that opened the door for Scott Walls' five yard run. Cox ran the two point conversion.

Perryville scored their final points of the game in the closing minutes of the encounter on a 35 yard pass play and a two point conversion run.

An inspired National Lock team outplayed the Daily Standard team Saturday and avenged an earlier defeat by them.

National Lock received the opening kickoff and marched to the Standard ten but fumbled and Standard recovered. Standard couldn't move the ball and had to punt. Lock's Mike Brasheer returned it to midfield. With two minutes remaining in the quarter Kyles pass was picked off by Standard's Jeff Davidson at the ten.

In the second quarter after a sustained drive Kyle of Lock completed a screen pass to Vince Williams who ran it in for the score. Joey Kyle called upon end Paul Murphy for his next target and made the extra point. Lock held on to lead at the half 7- 0.

Lock's third quarter team was not to be outdone and held on to the lead and even blocked a Standard punt. With two minutes to go in the quarter Lock's Todd Barborek scored on a quarterback sweep around left end. Point after missed.

In the fourth quarter fumbles were numerous. Lock fumbled on the Standard twenty and Ronnie Taylor of the Standard recovered. Standard returned the fumble a few minutes later and Lock's Cliff McCoy recovered. About midway through the quarter Standard fumbled in their backfield and Lock's Joey Kyle picked it up and ran 25 yards to score. Point after missed. On the last play of the game Standard got on the scoreboard when quarterback Harry Tope skirted right end for a ten yard score. Final National Lock 19 Daily Standard 6.

The Jaycee's sponsor of the little league need a big hand for getting all the helmets fixed this week so the players could resume play. Special thanks should be given to Commissioner Chuck Blumenberg, who takes care of arrangements for the games and attends them to see that everything goes according to the rules. The crowds get larger every week and fans next week is the end of the season and the winner is still not decided.

MEMPHIS SOUNDS

ABA — Eastern Division

The "Sounds" of Memphis will be loud and clear this season. Mike Storen will see to it that the noise from Memphis will reverberate throughout the ABA. Storen, the league's commissioner for nearly a year, resigned the post in July to take the reins of the Memphis team, with a past record of having built strong ABA franchises in Indiana and Kentucky. He emphasized he was no miracle worker, "but if good, hard work 24 hours a day with a first-class operation can produce results, we'll produce results." Storen's rapid-fire series of maneuverings off the court — including the acquisition of ABA star Roger Brown — are certain to pay off once the season begins. In only a couple of months, the energetic Storen has turned the franchise on "high."

FORWARDS: Following Storen's whirlwind trading binge, the Sounds came up with a good blend up front, a mixture of scorers, rebounders and defensive players. George Carter, a well-traveled veteran, heads the group. He averaged nearly 20 points a game and was a solid rebounder for Virginia last season. Julius Keye led Denver in rebounding for three straight years before finishing second last season. He also is a fine defensive player. Colliis Jones is young and eager, and Ronnie Robinson is strong and has good potential. Rating: B.

CENTER: To solidify the key position on the team, Storen went to his old Indiana team and acquired one of his favorite players, Mel Daniels. Daniels is the only ABA player to be chosen for each of the league's seven All-Star games. He also is a two-time MVP and the league's regular-season career leader in points, rebounds, two-point field goals and fouls. For his career, he has averaged about 20 points and 16 rebounds a game. Last season, however, he appeared to have deteriorated and his interest seemed to have waned. But under Storen, he may be rejuvenated. Backup Lee Davis is one of the few holdovers from last year's Memphis team. Rating: B.

GUARDS: Freddie Lewis was another Indiana veteran nabbed by Storen. Lewis, the MVP in the 1972 playoffs, is a clutch shooter and clever floor man, operating with precision-like certainty. Rick Mount was acquired from Utah, but he too, played for Storen at Indiana. He is one of the best pure shooters in the league. Chuck Williams, a smart playmaker and good outside shooter, came from Kentucky, and Mike Barr was obtained from Virginia. Rating: B+.

PREDICTION: Storen has done a remarkable job of revamping the entire club, including hiring Joe Mullaney as coach, especially in light of the little bargaining material he had at his original disposal. But he managed to corral several winning-type players, and in particular, a winning coach. Fourth in East.

Big Red...7-0

ST. LOUIS — Half a season does not a whole make, but what a half- season the football Cardinals have enjoyed.

They are unbeaten through the first seven games of the season and got a standing ovation from a turnout of 49,410 Sunday at Busch Memorial Stadium after holding off the Washington Redskins, 23-20.

It seemed that the Miracle Mets of baseball in 1969 had turned to football. At last, St. Louis was completely behind the Big Red. The city at last had its winner.

Washington wasn't impressed with the Cardinals' momentum or fandom. The Skins, after falling behind by 16 points early, made a game of it before the Cardinals could claim a 7-0 record, their best start - by two victories - since moving to St. Louis in 1960.

The victory put the Cardinals three games ahead of the Philadelphia Eagles and three ahead of the 4-3 Skins in the National Conference East. The Cardinals aren't billing themselves as a playoff entry yet, but the thought of a postseason shot isn't out of their minds.

Washington, with the NFC's top-ranked defense, against the Big Red, who went into Week No. 7 ranked last among National conference teams in yardage allowed. Sonny Jurgensen, the NFC's second- ranking passer, against Jim Hart, ranked No. 3.

Redskin coach George Allen took lesson No. 1 from Cardinal coach Don Coryell's book on humility. With this victory, the Cardinals became the first team ever to whip an Allen team twice in a season since he became an NFL head coach. The cards upset Washington, 17-10, Sept. 22.

The Cardinals were off to a 16-0 advantage by the time 2½ minutes had elapsed in the second quarter. They tripped Allen at his own game — taking advantage of the other guy's mistakes — to grab a lead without running a play from scrimmage.

But they hadn't shut down Jurgensen, the quarterback with a pot belly befitting a proper 40- year - old. When Jurgensen rose up, the Cardinals found themselves looking down the barrel of defeat.

On the Redskins' sixth play of the game, Cardinal cornerback Roger Wehrli picked off a Jurgensen toss intended for ace wide receiver Charley Taylor. The ball was thrown behind Taylor, and Wehrli was on his way to a 53- yard interception return for a touchdown.

Jim Bakken's point after touchdown was blocked by Ron McDole — the first time Bakken has ever had three unsuccessful attempts during one season.

The interception was the 13th of Wehrli's career but the first he's returned for a TD since he left the University of Missouri - Columbia six years ago.

St. Louis was living right, just as it has been since mid-September. For instance, a punt return attempt by flashing Terry Metcalf popped up, off his shoulder pad, but he grabbed the ball in mid-air and returned it 10 yards to the Cardinals 43-yard line, setting up the second Big Red score.

Hart, keying a drive with throws of 13 and 12 yards to wide receiver Earl Thomas for first downs, took the Big Red to the Washington 20 late in the first period. Then things seemed to go sour. Imagine, Hart sacked! But he was, by the Skins' Bill Brundige, only the second time this year he's been dumped while trying to pass.

So Bakken came on in a fourth and- 16 situation and kicked a 47- yard field goal, tying his longest effort of the campaign.

Reserve cornerback Dwayne Crump and strong safety Ken Reaves, the later recently acquired from New Orleans, set up an opportunity for the Big Red to go up by 16 points. On a third-- and- two from the Washington 29, they stopped fromer NFC rushing champ Larry Brown for no gain. Mike Bragg's punt squibbed only 10 yards, and the Cardinals got the ball on the Redskin 49.

Four plays later, Hart and Thomas teamed up for a 52-yard touchdown. Thomas, who came to the Cardinals from the Chicago Bears in training camp in one of the best trades St. Louis has made in recent memory, stretched out for the bomb from Hart and beat former Cardinal cornerback Pat Fischer to the end zone. Bakken's conversion made it a 16- point lead.

But to have Jurgensen down is not to have him out.

The elder statesman of the National Conference took the Skins to where Mark Moseley could boom through a 48- yard field goal. Then, with time remaining in the first half, he directed a classic drive that took the Redskins to within six points at 16-10.

Thomas dumped punt returner Joe Theismann on the Washington 5- yard line, and Jurgy went to work with 2:47 to play in the half. He opened with a 29- yarder to Taylor and followed with a 22- yard throw to seldom - used Frank Grant. After Cardinal defensive lineman Bob Rowe, Ron Yankowski and Council Rudolph had sacked him for a nine- yard loss, he went right back to the task at hand.

With look-in passes to Taylor, tight end Jerry Smith and a final two- yarder to Brown, Jurgensen took the Skins 95 yards on a scoring drive that consumed only 2:35. He had 12 seconds to spare.

Moseley's kick made it 16-10, and the momentum clearly had turned.

Jurgensen and his troops kept the ball for almost seven minutes in a third- quarter drive that lasted 14 plays, but didn't result in the go-ahead touchdown.

What Jurgensen, with all his poise and experience, coudln't do. Hart could. He opened the subsequent possession with a 29- yard look-in to Thomas. Three plays later, Metcalf stutter-stepped his way nine yards for a first down from a third - and- eight.

Then Hart, with a first- and- 10 from the Washington 17, scrambled to his right in uncharacteristic fashion and, just before being banged to the Astro Turf, flung the ball to running back Donny Anderson, all alone in the end zone. The touchdown, followed by a Bakken extra point, came with 2:48 to play in the third quarter. The Big Red had a 10- point lead at 23-13 and probably didn't expect to be held scoreless the rest of the way.

Jurgensen went back to HIS game.

With a third- and- one at his own 26 late in the third quarter, he fired his failsafe look-in pass to Taylor 15 yards upfield. But free safety Clarence Duren forced an incompletion when he almost dismantled the All-Pro wide receiver.

Bakken got plenty of toe into a field goal attempt from 47 yards early in the fourth period, but the ball drifted wide. Suddenly, it appeared that that miss and his earlier misfire on an extra point might prove disastrous.

Back came Jurgensen.

Even with the Cardinal defensive line sacking him twice and reserve quarterback Theismann once in a drive, the 18- year veteran put a touchdown on the board. The capper was a 13-yard play to Brown at the back of the end zone with 6:13 to go.

The Cardinals disputed the play, claiming Brown didn't have both feet in the end zone. The replay showed that he had come down with only one foot in.

Now it's on to Dallas for Sunday No. 8.

MURRAY OLDERMAN PRO CHARTS

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS

The Cardinals, under Don Coryell, manage to make it exciting — they put points up on the board. Trouble is, they also give them up with equal facility. Key to the progress will be ability of defensive unit to catch up with offense. They've made no major trades yet to help them in that area. Might emphasize running game a little more to establish ball control.

OFFENSE

PASSING — Finally given job all to himself, Jim Hart had best season ever as effective thrower (team record of 55.6 per cent completions). At 30, he should be at peak. For insurance, Coryell felt need for experienced backup and traded for Dennis Shaw, whom he coached at San Diego State. GOOD.

RECEIVING — Definite swing to the big strong type as the primary receivers, except for darter Mel Gray, who caught for seven TD's last year and is a game-breaker. Big experiment is conversion of top rookie J.V. Cain from tight end to wide spot. And they also acquired Earl Thomas, another dual-performance type, from Chicago Bears. Nominal tight end remains perennial Jackie Smith. VERY GOOD.

RUNNING — Coryell felt need for workhorse type to set off such racehorses as Terry Metcalf and Willie Belton, therefore picked up Ken Willard, old but useful blocker. Donnie Anderson, no speedster but very versatile, had one of his best years — he's halfback type, too. Other man in burly brigade is Jim Otis. GOOD.

BLOCKING — Fair enough mix of experience and youth. Ernie McMillan starts his 14th season as the left tackle anchor. The other tackle, Don Dierdorf, is fourth year man headed for all-pro lists. Also drafted Greg Kindle of Tennessee. The quality and depth drop off in middle, where major shift finds exguard Tom Banks taking over for departed Wayne Mulligan at center. FAIR.

DEFENSE

FRONT FOUR — If bulk alone will do it, Dave Butz holds the key. Major move has him moving his 280 pounds from end to tackle, alongside vet Bob Rowe. Remarkable Bonnie Sloan can conquer deafness but can't seem to avoid injury. The ends are a real scramble for adequate bodies, using such pickups as Oiler discard Leo Brooks. POOR.

LINEBACKING — Not half bad even if they did decide to dump Jamie Rivers as the middle man (to Jets). That's because defensive coach Ray Willsey figured third-year player Mark Arneson is ready to be the jelling force as the middle linebacker. He has a couple of strong vets on either side, Larry Stallings (in his 12th year) and Pete Barnes (a hitter). Jim Sniadecki, a lame duck WFLer, can swing for a year. GOOD.

SECONDARY — Most unsettled because they really aren't satisfied with the quality or consistency of most of the incumbents. The only established guy is Roger Wehrli, who's been shifted between corner and safety and back to corner for five years and would be all-pro on a good team. Youngster with best chance to develop is safety Clarence Duren. FAIR.

KICKING — Among the most consistent field goal booters for 12 years has been Jim Bakken. He persists. Punting could revert back to Donnie Anderson, who doesn't get much distance but lots of loft to his left-footed boots. Or spare QB Gary Keithley. GOOD.

PREDICTION

That defense simply looks too porous to make anyone take Cards seriously — so consign them to last in NFC East.

Smith inducted

COLUMBIA, Mo.-- Harry Smith, ex- football coach and two- time all- American guard at the University of Southern California, is a 1974 honoree in the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame.

Chosen by vote of the state's sportswriters and sportscasters, along with Emmett R. (Abe) Stuber, Smith will be officially inducted into the state's Hall of Fame at an awards dinner here on Nov. 23, following the Missouri- Kansas football game.

A reception at the Tiger hotel will start at 5 p.m., with the dinner at 7 p.m. Tickets, $7.00 each, mav be obtained by writing: Don Faurot, Hearnes Multipurpose Bldg., Columbia, Mo., 65201.

Smith, a husky native of Russelville, Mo., still ranks as one of USC's all- time football greats. He played on the Trojan Rose Bowl teams of 1938 and 1939 that defeated Duke and Tennessee, respectively.

Duke was unbeaten, untied and unscored upon that year, until bowing to Southern Cal in the last 30 seconds, 7- 3. Tennessee had a string of 23 straight games without defeat before going down, 14- 0.

Nicknamed "Blackjack" in his playing days, Smitty was picked on the National Football Hall of Fame in 1955. He also was named to the Associated Press 50- year all- America team.

Smith joined the Missouri football staff as Don Faurot's aide in 1941– and eventually logged 20 years as a Tiger assistant under Coaches Faurot, Frank Broyles and Dan Devine.

He also was a freshman football coach at his alma mater for two years-- and head coach of the Saskatchewan Rough Riders in the Canadian league for one season. His Saskatchewan team went to the Grey Cup finals that year.

1973-74 finish: W 47, L 37 — 3rd place

Despite the enviable combination of a winning record, hometown talent and a basketball-hungry state, the Carolina Cougars couldn't find box office success in North Carolina last season and so during the summer, the franchise was shifted to St. Louis by four New York executives who purchased the team from Tedd Munchak.

St. Louis has been without pro basketball since 1968 when the NBA's St. Louis Hawks moved to Atlanta. That team built a winning tradition along with one of the better attendances in the NBA, and the new ABA team in St. Louis is hoping for similar success. Unlike Carolina, which was a regional franchise, playing its home games in Charlotte, Greensboro and Raleigh, the Spirits will play on only one home court, the 18,000-seat St. Louis Arena. The new owners had to rebuild fast, because three of the starters on last season's team were let go by Munchak, including All-Star guards Ted McClain and Mack Calvin, plus center Jim Chones. So were Coach Larry Brown and General Manager Carl Scheer.

FORWARDS: This is where the Spirits have their only two remaining starters, Billy Cunningham and Joe Caldwell — and Cunningham is doubtful. At last word, Cunningham had decided either to play with Philadelphia or sit out the year. The veteran Caldwell, one of the game's great leapers, has said this would be his last season of pro ball. On the bench, the Spirits have veterans Ed Manning, Tom Owens and Dennis Wuycik plus rookie Gus Gerard. Rating: B.

CENTERS: Marvin Barnes, the All-American from Providence, is the team's future, having signed a six-year contract for an estimated $2.5 million. During his three varsity seasons, he was one of the nation's leading rebounders, winning the rebounding title last season. He also averaged over 20 points a game during his Providence career. His collegiate coach, Dave Gavitt, calls him an extremely unselfish player. Mike Lewis, who has missed virtually all of the last two seasons because of tendon operations, and rookie Mickey Johnson are the backups. Rating: A-.

GUARDS: The losses of McClain and Calvin are serious blows to the team's backcourt, and new Coach Bob MacKinnon will have difficulty finding a combination even closely resembling last season's All-Stars. His choices will come mostly from newcomers, with Gene Littles the lone holdover. Included in the rookie contingent is James "Fly" Williams, the scoring sensation from Austin Peay. Williams, however, played up front in college and may have difficulty adjusting in the pros. Jimmy Foster is the other rookie. Rating: C.

PREDICTION: The firepower of Cunningham, provided he has fully recuperated from his operations, and the sensational Barnes, the most highly regarded pro rookie except for Bill Walton, will carry the Spirits a long way. If they get some help from the backcourt, it would be a big plus. Third in East.

Everage sparks SeMo

ST. JOSEPH, MO. (AP)— Bobby Everage's 80- yard end run for a touchdown featured Southeast Missouri's 23- 17 victory over Missouri Western Saturday.

The run by Everage, from Alton, Ill., followed a 35- yard field goal by Mike Wood and gave the Cape Indians a 10- 0 lead in the first quarter.

Two passes by Rick Weiser turned into touchdowns for Southeast. One was a 17- yard scoring strike to Ed Slaughter, the other 22 yards to David Goncher, who then fumbled the ball. His teammate, tackle Robert Stolzer, picked up the ball and ran 16 yards for a touchdown.

Southeast has a 4- 3 record, Western 1- 7.

By The Associated Press

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1962, a dangerous U.S.-Soviet confrontation eased as Moscow announced that Russian missiles were being withdrawn from Cuba.

On this date —

In 1636, Harvard College was founded in Massachusetts

Ten years ago: The United States joined Britain in warning the government of Rhodesia against proclaiming independence without the consent of the majority of its black population.

Five years ago: Premier Golda Meir's Labor Party was returned to power in a general election in Israel.

One year ago: Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said relationships between Peking and Washington had in no way been affected by the Watergate scandal.

Thought for today: You cannot build a reputation on what you are going to do — Henry Ford, American industrialist, 1863-1947.

Welfare demands special session

JEFFERSON CITY - A special legislative session is now a certainty for the latter part of November. This will be the second such special session for the 77th General Assembly.

The main reason is to appropriate additional money for state welfare payments. According to the Division of Family Services, there is only $1.9 million left in the fund for state supplemental income payments which are due the first of each month. On Dec. 1, a $3.8 million payment is due, and, therefore, can not be made unless additional funding is approved.

The legislature appropriated the amount recommended by the governor, but his estimate was substantially in error. Now the governor says an additional $25.9 million will be needed to complete the fiscal year ending in June 1975.

Legislators have been particularly concerned about welfare programs and problems during the last year. Several instances of fraud and error were revealed last spring.

Those reports indicated that in 1973 Missouri ranked 21st in the nation in error rates. About 14 per cent of all aid to dependent children recipients were overpaid.

A special House committee last spring investigated these charges and in June released a comprehensive report recommending changes in program management.

Now a special House Appropriations subcommittee is working to make sure changes are being made to eliminate welfare mismanagement and waste within the department as well as among the recipients. The chairman of the subcommittee, Russell Goward, D-St. Louis, indicates the Social Services Department has implemented several suggestions of the House committee and is following guidelines outlined in the committee report.

Among changes already in effect are a reduction in paper work within the division, a training program for personnel within the division and evaluation of supervisory positions to determine the necessity of each.

Perhaps most importantly there has been a decentralization of authority. Local and county offices have been granted more decision making power. This should make it easier to eliminate delays and make local offices more responsibe to local needs.

Goward noted, "There are stell many procedures which need to be changed. For instance, at the present time, caseworkers are responsible for reinvestigating their cases to determine continuing eligibility. Many caseworkers are handling 200-250 cases. This investigation is simply impossible. I believe a separate investigating unit should be established to make these checks.

"I am also going to reintroduce a bill I have sponsored in previous session on welfare fraud. It is difficult to believe that Missouri has no state laws directly relating to welfare fraud. Until recently there has not even been an active interest in prosecuting those who have defrauded the state of money desperately needed by others."

Goward continued, "I also plan to introduce a bill establishing an attorney general's office for the Social Services Department. We need a legal staff specializing in welfare fraud and making sure that this large portion of state revenues is bing used in the best possible way.

"In many cases local prosecuting attorneys have paid little if any attention to prosecuting such cases. This is mainly because of lack of time and staff. This kind of staff in the Social Services Department would bring the type of expertise needed to help clear up mistakes within the department."

The other subcommittee members include Raymond Quarles, D-St. Louis, Harold Volkmer, D-Hannibal, Joe Holt, D-Fulton, Harold Reisch, R-Columbia, and William Raisch, R-Affton. The subcommittee met recently in Jefferson City with welfare officials, and its members said they were pleased with the progress made so far in implementation of recommendations.

The subcommittee will also be looking into the area of state medicaid payments and will be developing related legislation for the session which begins in January.

Goward concluded, "We believe the people of Missouri are demanding state money be spent as efficiently as possible. We believe taxpayers want the hungry to be fed and the poor to have clothing and shelter. But the credibility of the administration of welfare programs has been destroyed. Taxpayers feel many are taking advantage of the programs available.

"We must reduce fraud, deception and waste. Now is the time. Especially during this time of inflation, we are all aware of the necessity for efficient governmental operations., That's what our subcommittee is working to obtain."

FREDERICA VON STADE ANSWERS PARIS SOS

NEW YORK (AP) — In response to an urgent plea from Rolf Liebermann, general manager of the Paris Opera, American mezzo-soprano Frederica von Stade has readjusted her schedule to sing Cherubino in Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" for the opening of the Paris Opera season.

Miss Von Stade will fly to Paris and back in five days, between engagements with the New York Philharmonic and the San Francisco Opera.

She scored an enormous hit as Cherubino in March 1973, when the Paris opera reopened after a long period of being closed. This fall she will be replacing Spanish mezzo-soprano Teresa Berganza, who is ill.

Miss Von Stade will be soloist in the Mahler "Fourth Symphony" during the opening week of the New York Philharmonic season. In San Francisco she will be rehearsing the title role in Rossini's "La Cenerentola," which she will sing for the first time in her career Oct. 17.

'Home Health Care Week' proclaimed in Missouri

Sikeston Mayor Frank Ferrell has joined Gov. Christopher Bond in proclaiming Nov. 4-9 as "Home Health Care Week".

In his proclamation, Mayor Ferrell notes that the function of the 33 certified home health agencies in Missouri is the deliverance of the best quality health care to all citizens regardless of their ability to pay.

He also emphasizes that these agencies are able to provide a wide range of health services to any citizen under a physician's care in his own home.

Soybean harvest in full swing

Soybean harvest is backing up traffic at the Scott County Milling Co. in Sikeston. Drivers with trucks loaded with beans wait in long lines every morning for their turn at the elevators. John Campbell of Sikeston looked over his beans at the end of a long line this morning.

First reaction to guaranteed pay cautious

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is being urged to scrap the maze of federal public-assistance programs in favor of a proposed new welfare program guaranteeing poor families a minimum annual income of $3,600.

Named the Income Supplement Program, the plan was developed over the last year in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and has been circulating within the President's Cabinet the last three weeks.

HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger said initial reaction has been cautious.

HEW planners estimate the program's first-year cost at $21.6 billion. Although as many as 42 million Americans might be eligible because of their low incomes, the department believes that 10 million of that number would not apply for their cash benefits.

The proposed plan would replace Aid to Families with Dependent Children, which covers 10.7 million persons at an annual federal-state cost of $8 billion; Supplemental Security Income aiding 3.3 million aged, blind and disabled poor; the food stamp program, which has doubled in cost to more than $4 billion the last two years; and clothing and housing allowances.

"All of this is predicated on agreement and willingness to put all these existing programs into one," Weinberger said in an interview. "If we're talking about adding a new program on top of everything else, I am the first man to oppose it."

In a draft memo obtained by the weekly National Journal, Weinberger argues that the proposed plan, a form of negative income tax, would make Congress more keenly aware that sweetening the welfare pie in the future would require tax increases.

Weinberger said in the interview that if a more liberal Democratic Congress were elected next month, public assistance programs already on the lawbooks would come under strong pressure for benefit increases.

The President is being told that the present welfare system is a runaway nightmare, which distributes assistance inequitably to the poor, at a total cost no one has yet been able to tabulate.

"I would hope the President would decide whether he wants to include a proposal of this kind in his State of the Union Address," Weinberger said. "That's what we are pointing for."

The Income Supplement Program contains a strong work requirement, to appeal to conservative legislators. Every able-bodied recipient would have to apply for work and take an offered job.

Juvenile arrested in hold up

DEXTER--- The Stoddard County sheriff's department and the highway patrol arrested a juvenile boy at approximately 10 a.m. Saturday in connection with the armed robbery of the Fina Service station on Highway 60 north of town.

Station attendant Richard Walker said the youth walked into the station at 6:40 a.m. Saturday carrying a .22- caliber rifle with a paper sack over his head and demanded the money. After taking the money, Walker said the youth disappeared behind the station.

The youth was later picked up for questioning and reportedly, admitted the robbery.

The boy was arrested only three hours later by Deputy Sheriff Bob Barker and highway patrolman Kenneth Lancaster.

City to receive construction bids

CHARLESTON— The City of Charleston, will receive bids for the construction of water system improvements, including water lines, water treatment plant modification and appurtenances until 5 p.m. on Nov. 19, at City Hall. City Clerk Velna C. Brown said today that, all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud at that time.

A pre- bid conference will be held at 10 a.m. on Nov. 12 at the City Hall.

Bids are invited on the several items and quantities of work as shown in the tabulation of bid quantities and all items must include unit prices for all items and quantities of work.

The contract will be administered by the City of Charleston, or it's duly authorized representative.

Monthly partial payments, in cash, will be made to the contractor for the total value of work completed to date and materials properly stored on the site less: (1) 10 per cent of the total amount, to be retained upon final payment; and (2) the amount of all previous payments.

Contract documents, including drawings and technical specifications are on file at the office of the city clerk, in Charleston and at the office of R. W. Booker & Associates, Inc., (engineer) at 1139 Olive Street, St. Louis, Missouri 63101. Copies of the contract documents may be obtained from R. W. Booker & Associates, Inc. Deposits for the documents will be refunded in the drawings and contract documents are returned in good condition within 15 days after bid opening.

A certified check or bank draft, payable to the order of the City of Charleston, Missouri, negotiable U. S. Government Bonds (at par value), or a satisfactory bid bond executed by the bidder, and an acceptable surety, in an amount equal to 5 per cent of the total of bid shall be submitted with each bid.

Not less than the minimum salaries and wages as set forth in the contract documents must be paid on this project, and the contractor must insure that employes and applications for employment are not discriminated against because of their race, creed, color, sex, or national origin.

The City of Charleston reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any formalities in the bidding.

Bids may be held by the City of Charleston, for a period not to exceed 30 days from the date of opening of bids for the purpose of reviewing the bids and investigating the qualifications of bidders, prior to awarding of the contract.

Burglars hit 2 businesses over weekend

A burglar took $628 from South Side Oil Co. on Highway 61 South sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday.

Police said the money had been hidden in a box in the tire room. The burglar cut a chain and forced open the tire room door to get the money, police said.

Burglars took $30 in bills and $10 in pennies from the Cream Castle restaurant, 801 W. Malone Ave., between 2 o'clock and 4:25 a.m. Saturday, according to police.

Winter will be colder

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances are 14-to-1 that this winter will be colder than last year, government experts said today in urging consumers to begin thinking about conserving heating fuel.

A statement released by the Commerce Department's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration said consumers should start lowering their thermostats earlier this fall to achieve fuel savings, because of anticipated colder temperatures.

By turning thermostats down six degrees, residents of northernmost states could reduce heating fuel use during winter months by 11 to 15 per cent, the agency said. The percentage saving increases in warmer regions, reaching more than 50 per cent in northnermost portions of Florida, Texas and California, the agency added.

However, it said, the actual quantities of heating fuel saved would be much greater in cold areas than in warm regions be-

Disaster benefits total $10 million

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton today said enactment of his disaster assistance amendment has brought $10.8 million in grants and low- interest loans to a 10- county area of Southeast Missouri in the wake of the devastating 1973 floods.

According to Farmers Home Administration statistics releaded by Eagleton, some 1,990 Southeast Missouri farm families directly benefited from the Eagleton legislation with total grants of $7,144,000 and $3,741,000 in one per cent loans.

Eagleton stressed that the disaster funds made available by his amendment were not part of a new program "but assistance these families were entitled to under the law but couldn't get because the Farmers Home Administration decided that it didn't like the program."

The St. Louis Democrat introduced his amendment after learning of FHA's refusal to process farm disaster assistance requests, even though the Small Business Administration was giving similar help to businessmen.

Despite a Presidential veto, Eagleton persisted in his efforts and the measure was finally signed into law in December 1973.

Eagleton said Southeast Missouri was the area hardest hit by the 1973 floods and thus got the lions share of the total $16,840,000 in assistance which the Eagleton amendment brought to the state.

Eagleton also noted that the FHA's statistics were based on 3,866 applications thus far processed under the Eagleton amendment. The final total of such applications is expected to exceed 5,000.

COUNTY	No. of Families	Total Assistance	Amount of Grants
Stoddard	385	$2,425,000	$1,300,000
New Madrid	305	1,530,000	1,100,000
Dunklin	290	1,183,000	1,000,00
Pemiscot	278	1,158,000	1,100,000
Butler	257	968,000	722,500
Cape Girardeau	100	430,600	330,700
Scott	148	715,700	648,900
Perry	94	1,910,000	297,900
Mississippi	81	342,600	324,200
Bollinger	52	220,600	119,100
10-County Southeast Mo.	1,990	$10,885,000	$7,144,000

Eagleton will make a final campaign tour of Southeast Missouri Friday, with appearances scheduled in Cape Girardeau, Kennett, Poplar Bluff, Dexter and Sikeston.

Chamber board sets meeting

The board of directors of the Sikeston Area Chamber of Commerce will meet at noon Thursday at Purkey's Restaurant, 207 E. Center St.

BELL CITY — Food apparently was the only item taken in a break-in Friday at the home of Marie Coleman.

WASHINGTON, D.C.-- Missouri 10th District Rep. Bill D. Burlison announced Saturday that the Office of Economic Opportunity has awarded a $178,000 grant to Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation at Portageville, Mo.

Burlison explained that the funds would be utilized to enable DAEOC to continue on a three- month basis, effective Oct. 1, the administration and services currently provided by its programs. The Cape Girardeau Democrat added that 10th District counties sharing the award are Dunklin, Mississippi, Scott, New Madrid, Pemiscot and Stoddard.

Scott's share of U.S. debt is $3.6 million

How much of the money that the federal government collects annually from residents of Scott County via the tax route, is needed to meet the interest charges on the national debt?

How much will the local population be forking up during the current year, through their income taxes and through excise and other taxes, as its share of these interest charges?

The answer is -- approximately $3,645,000. That is their share of the carrying costs alone. It will not reduce by a particle the debt itself, which has now reached the awesome total of a half trillion dollars.

For the nation as a whole, the present cost of carrying this debt is nearly $30 billion a year, the latest figures show.

Heritage House project gets $37,128 grant

The Southeast Missouri Area Agency on Aging has awarded the Heritage House nutrition project a grant of $37,128 for the nutrition program meal site located at the Heritage House, 305 Cresap Place. The grant will supply partial funding for 50,700 meals this year to senior citizens.

The Southeast Missouri Area Agency on Aging received nutrition funds from the Missouri Department of Social Services, Division of Special Services, Office of Aging, under the provision of Title VII, Older Americans Act of 1965, as amended.

11 persons injured in traffic

A St. Louis man received critical injuries, a Doniphan youth received serious injuries and nine persons received minor injuries in eight area traffic accidents over the weekend, the highway patrol announced today.

Jack C. Hunter, 62, of St. Louis received critical injuries at 3 p.m. Saturday on Route C two miles north of Menfro in Perry County when the northbound motorcycle he was riding struck loose gravel and ran off the road.

He was taken to Perry County Hospital in Perryville, then transferred to St. John's Hospital in St. Louis.

Kenneth Lee Kennon, 18, of Doniphan suffered serious injuries at 1 a.m. Sunday 12 miles east of Doniphan on Route C when the northbound car he was driving ran off the road and overturned.

He was taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Four persons suffered minor injuries in a two- vehicle accident at 3:50 p.m. Saturday on Highway 60 two miles north of Essex.

Injured were Kelly and his son, Tommy Kelly, 14, and two passengers in the Hunsaker car, Karen Hunsaker, 4, and Kimberly Hunsaker, 9.

All four were taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.

He was taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Bobby Taylor, 21, of Portageville suffered minor injuries at 4:45 p.m. Sunday one mile north of Portageville on Route E.

He was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

James Kindrick, 29, of Portageville received minor injuries at 2:30 a.m. today on the River Road seven miles east of Portageville.

He was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital.

Marty DeWayne Paskel, 17, of Poplar Bluff received minor injuries at 7:20 p.m. Saturday on Route W 3.5 miles north of Poplar Bluff when the northbound car he was driving ran off the road and overturned. He was taken to Poplar Bluff Hospital.

A Cardwell motorist received minor injuries in a two- car accident at 5:15 p.m. Saturday on Highway 25 one mile south of Senath.

The patrol said the accident occurred when a northbound car driven by Frank Hamilton, 68, of Senath failed to yield the right of way and struck a westbound car driven by Tina Marie Williams, 17, of Cardwell, who was taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

The Editor is in receipt of more literature for the Missourians for Honest Elections than we get from almost anything else, but there is no money accompanying it, therefore we are not going to run them, especially since I am for honest elections but I am not for Proposition No. 1, and I don't believe that anybody else who has the time and patience to read the legal notice on it is for it either. I don't know what we will do for board members of the school, and the board of aldermen, etc. and the grocery man who has to say who has to spend $500 a year with him or anybody else. As we said before and say again read the legal notice and then if you want to vote for it then I am for you, although I am not going to vote for it.

I don't understand President Ford's Inflation Fight. I've already said something about the Antitrust laws and I hoped that he would bring the labor unions under that and let them be responsible also, but his paragraph concerning other taxes he wants to allow corporations to deduct the dividends paid on preferred stock. What I can't understand is, why he doesn't want them also on common stocks.

WITCHES ARE COMING

Halloween can be a happy time. The contagious excitement of children dressing up as ghosts or skeletons, witches or fairy pincesses, eases many a care. The traditional outing for tricks or treats is full of high adventure for the little ones and the prospect of a month's supply of sweets for their older brothers and sisters.

All well and good. But there is a serious side. Motorists need to be on the alert for costumed figures darting across the streets. And parents should make sure their children don't wander too far from home. An increasingly popular practice is to limit trick- or-treaters to their own neighborhoods. Young children, of course, should be accompanied by an older person.

Vandalism also is often a problem. Youngsters should be reminded that what might seem an innocent enough prank to them could cost someone a good deal of money or effort. It's no laughing matter to find tires deflated, garbage strawn about a yard or windows covered with soap.

The spirit of Halloween, aside from its religious significance, should be one of light- hearted play acting. We don't believe, as the ancient Celts did, that the dead come back to visit their families on Oct. 31. But adults must be ready to fein surprise and fright as the goblins trip up to the front door. In that spirit, Friday morning will bring a pleasant memory to everyone.

GROWING HAIR INDUSTRY

Call it a wig, hairpiece, toupee or cranial doily, the Encyclopaedia Britannica defines it as "an artificial head of hair worn as a personal or theatrical cosmetic adornment, disguise or symbol of office."

According to Ben Z. Kaplan, editor of the "Wigs and Hairpieces" section of the Britannica, Egyptian mummies of both sexes have been found adorned with wigs. The theatrical wig was first used in Greece and later copied by the Romans. But correcting nature's shortchanging of men did not begin in a big way until the 17th century in the court of Louis XIII. From Versailles, the fashion spread throughout Europe.

England followed suit after the Restoration under Charles II when the wearing of the "perruque" (hence the English perriwig, or wig) became general. In Colonial America, wigs were worn by most men who could afford them as symbols of rank and position.

Wiggery got its real boost in the United States, however, with the birth of the movie industry. Then the advent of television after World War II gave the wig and hairpiece industry a jetlike takeoff.

According to Kaplan, who in 1968 founded Universal Winners, which bills itself as the world's first department store for men's hairpiece needs, more than a million wigs and hairpieces were purchased by American males in 1973, resulting in retail sales of about $125 million.

Like most almost every other item, the men's hairpiece has suffered from inflation. The going price for a custom-made hairpiece in 1954 was $150. Today it is $300 up. But they're better made, look more natural, last longer and many now use synthetic hair instead of real hair bought from European peasant women.

THE LIGHT DAWNS

While we don't claim to understand all that is affecting world economics and the problems of inflation, most Americans are becoming aware that we have a bear by the tail -- and so far there is no solution that is politically palatable.

Now that the honeymoon is over for President Ford, he is coming under pressure from various fronts and we won't dwell on his continuing problems with the Watergate aftermath.

But his economic policies are certainly appropriate for review. After stating in his recent press conference that there wasn't to be a depression, the President took a decidedly less optimistic position in his latest speech in Detroit. Referring to the rapid runup in oil prices, he stated: "Exorbitant prices can only distort the world economy, run the risk of worldwide depression and threaten the breakdown of world order and safety. It is difficult to discuss the energy problem without lapsing into domsday language. The danger is clear. It is severe."

While the news is bad, it is encouraging to see that some people in high places finally appreciate the magnitude of the problem created by the enormous boost in oil prices. Recent World Bank estimates reveal that the petroleum exporting countries could accumulate $650 billion within five years. By comparison, the international reserves of foreign exchange in gold owned by the United States now amount to only $14 billion. West Germany, who is sitting on top of the largest reserve pile in the world, has only $34 billion. We have a situation where the two major industrialized countries in the world have amassed only $48 billion in reserves throughout their economic history. Yet, we are asked to believe that, within five years, the oil sheiks can accumulate $650 billion and, within ten years, $1.2 trillion without throwing the world economic system into chaos. This is rediculous. Unless there is a major rollback in prices, the world economic and monetary system is headed for a donnybrook that will make the 1930s look like a tea party.

HELP FOR CHILDREN

Youngsters already are beginning to make the door-to- door rounds with little orange boxes, asking for donations to the United Nations Children's Fund. But the biggest part of the drive will be Halloween, Oct. 31, when the goblins, witches, ghosts and other creatures of that fanciful night will be trying to help destitute mothers and children in the world's developing countries.

Those who contribute to the fund can be assured that it works. In 1973 it trained 107,000 teachers, 2,000 doctors, 15,000 child health workers and 100,000 nutrition workers. In another recent year, it protected 72 million people from malaria and treated 2.2 million children for trachoma and another 980,000 for leprosy.

UNICEF is not just a big give-away. It has strict regulations for the use of its grants. Receiving countries are required to provide such local resources as supplies, buildings and staff, which are valued at an average of $2.50 for each UNICEF dollar. The fund also emphasized long- range development of permanent programs in health services, nutrition, education and family and child welfare, so the countries will not need outside help indefinitely.

UNICEF relies upon donations because, although it is affiliated with the United Nations, it is not supported by that body's budget. We urge Memphians to fill the orange boxes as well as the tricker-treat bags this Halloween.

NEW TIMES AND NEW WAYS

With the passage of years and the development of mass movement of people by air, the utility value of the ocean liner has diminished. In some ways, the nostalgic attachment to the age of the great passenger ship is like that for luxury passenger trains, yet their greatest usefulness is past and a refusal to recognize this fact can prove costly.

In the case of passenger ships, attempts have been made to block authorization for the sale of five vessels to foreign owners. The cost of trying to keep the past alive in these ships has been well documented by the head of the American Institute of Merchant Shipping, Mr. James J. Reynolds. In an open letter to all members of the U. S. House of Representatives, urging passage of a bill to permit the sale of the ships, he says, "Jet aircraft today carry 98 per cent of all trans-Atlantic passengers and ships cannot survive on the remaining 2 per cent... The problem is not solely American. Ten years ago, Britain's Cunard Line had ten ships making 145 sailings trans-Atlantic. Today, it has only one making 13 sailings and that ship, the Queen Elizabeth II ... may be converted to a floating hotel ... It would cost $80 million in operating subsidies for these ships to operate exclusively in the luxury crusie trade ... The annual lay-up costs just to let the vessels rust is over $6 million a year ..."

The companies owning the ships in question desire to sell them and apply the proceeds to the construction of new cargo vessels that would further strengthen the U. S. Merchant Marine to meet the main task ahead. That task is the movement of American goods to keep the U. S. competitive in international commerce. This is a clear case of new times and new ways. Refusal to recognize it as such will prove both costly and futile.

AN UNFORTUNATE FORD VETO ON INFORMATION FREEDOM

President Ford's veto of a good bill to strengthen the Freedom of Information Act of 1966 is puzzling. We can only assume that he got some bad advice from the executive agencies for which most routine disclosures of business would be inconvenient or embarrassing or both.

The proposed amendments to the 1966 act were entirely in order, and language was changed in the conference committee a few days ago to take account of the President's reservations. Nevertheless the veto has fallen, and it has wiped out a lot of good work. If the veto stands or unless Congress can come back with a good bill that can survive, the people will continue to remain in the dark concerning a lot of subjects they need to know more about.

The essential purpose of the law and its refinements was to prevent federal agencies, their political overseers and vested bureaucrats from hiding information from the public under the guise of "national security" or classifications with even less to recommend them. A 1973 Supreme Court decision had said, in effect, that if a document is stamped "classified," a citizen can do little but accept the label. The document is exempt from the law.

That gets to the heart of the question. Proponents of a more open policy are not trying to pry top secret material from the Pentagon or the Department of State. If they were, they hardly would pursue such a public route to covert knowledge. They are trying, instead, to find examples of the bureaucratic waste and political excess that abound in both the military and civilian sectors of the great Washington scene. They are, in fact, trying to get at the very information that is conveniently stamped "classified" and hidden away from the public.

It is difficult to imagine that Mr. Ford really was cognizant of the bill or what was involved beyond bureaucratic discomfiture. The language in the message does not sound like his. There is talk of a "federal district judge" being able to "overturn a determination by the secretary of defense that disclosure of a document would endanger our national security." Of course this is nonsense. The proposal would allow a judge to examine contested materials privately (in camera) to determine if they were properly exempted under any legal category. It ought to be assumed that our federal judges can be trusted not to betray the security of the country.

And if, indeed, any document is sheltered by the secretary of defense, it is hard to believe that a federal judge would not be reasonable. The act is not intended to put the secretary of defense in an untenable position regarding state secrets. It is intended to nail the petty (and sometimes not so petty) brass that may be trying to hide behind the authority of the secretary of defense.

But it is in the civil sector that the act could take on its greatest significance. The nation has just gone through a tumultuous era in which a President was overthrown because information was hidden and lied about. There was a concerted effort to pass off the Watergate break-in as an operation of the Central Intelligence Agency and thereby foist off investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. If this was not a matter that would have been uncovered by the Freedom of Information Act, at least the direction of malfeasance was in the same spirit.

This is hardly the time for the executive branch to act as if it can be business as usual in secreting what ought to be public information.

The Freedom of Information Act is useful only in so far as the people can use it. As it stands, the individual citizen has had no luck in running up against the great brick wall of government reticence and concealment unless he is able to spend a fortune on lawyers.

President Ford has vetoed a good bill and has not given good reasons for his most disappointing action.

SOVIET PENAL CAMPS STILL EXIST

The great Russian author Alexander Solzehnitsyn appalled the free world with his magnificent account of the sufferings of Soviet prisoners and the inmates of the Siberian concentration camps in "The Gulag Archipelago." But, in spite of that, there may still be good and reasonable men in the free world who think this phase of Soviet history is over.

Solzehnitsyn is reported to be writing another book to bring "The Gulag Archipelago" right down to the present. But we do not need to wait to know the truth. We have the testimony given last year, but almost ignored by the mass media, to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee by Abraham Shifrin, who grew up in Russia and now lives in Israel.

For 10 years Shifrin was in Siberian concentration camps, and then was kept in exile in Siberia for four years more. Finally, in 1970, he was allowed to leave the Soviet Union. Since then he has kept in close contact with other refugees and new exiles from Russia who keep him informed about the Soviet prison camps.

Inmates, Shifrin testified, are forced to work 10 hours a day, in sub- zero cold with only 1,700 colories of food a day. Thirty to 40 prisoners die each night. Their bodies are dumped in the forest and eaten by wild beasts. Many of these beasts are later trapped and their fur sold in Western countries.

Soviet timber and wood products sold in the West are also largely produced by slave labor. Wherever communists rule there will always be many human beings suffering in concentration camps. HLH

WASHINGTON-- And now President Ford should get up some "LOSE" buttons, it seems to me, and award them to some environmentalists who can't see the forest because of a few beautiful trees. These environmentalists are the intervenors who delay, and sometimes prevent, the construction of nuclear and traditional electrical power plants.

In one case these environmentalist intervenors have delayed construction of a vital power facility for nine years though the entire project has been fully investigated and found beneficial to the entire Eastern seaboard.

These ecologists have slowed the sheer process of even obtaining a basic Atomic Energy commission permit for needed plants anywhere from six to 18 months.

They have delayed the building of one plant for fear fish would be killed in the "cooling" lake-- when previously there had been no fish in the oversized artificial pond.

They have cost the government, the economy, the people and the work force billions of dollars in desperately needed "energy," jobs and productive capacity.

In the opinion of some truly profound Washington acientific and political observers, long delays in power plant construction during the oil crunch so imperial the free world, the holocaust may be military, not financial, physical, not economic, war.

These opinions are privately expressed. But this nation now urgently needs several hundred nuclear and regular power plants. But there are now only 50 atomic power installation operative, 69 under much delayed construction and 118 planned or announced.

No one wants the good earth despoiled. But look, please, at an Eastern nuclear power plant which was finally finished and now needs a sister installation to provide energy during this oil crisis.

To construct the first atomic power facility, the builder damned a small fishless stream which had virtually no life in it. It was welled up into an artificial lake for "cooling" the energy- making process. Then the lake was stocked with fish and a recreation area was develped on its shores. Now a second facility is needed close by-- on the lake. But in rush the enviromentalists.

They want assurance the fish won't be killed-- though there had been no fish, no play areas before. Result: a long delay. Long wait for jobs, now much needed by construction workers. And, a longer wait for crucial electric power.

There is another atomic power plant project planned for a Southeast site. It will use a "closed cooling system" requiring no water. But the environmentalists are there too. They want assurance there won't be any change in the temperature of a nearby lake-- which just isn't involved. This requires the taking of temperature readings of the lake and possibly the nearby waterways from surface to the bottom of the waters which just aren't involved. Also the ecologists insist on forcing a full study of the lake's characteristics, etc. Which means considerable expenditures of money and time.

Actually, this means assuring the ecological intervenors that the lake's temperature won't be changed more than a fraction of a degree at any time. No sense discomforting the fish. What discomfort the lack of electrical power might cause the people over a wide area, it seems to me, doesn't appear to enter in all this demand for intricate time- consuming scientific effort.

But perhaps the prize for environmentalist intervention goes to those who have delayed the "Blue Ridge" project in Virginia for nine years. The plain- talking, 42- year- old new president of the AFL- CIO Building and Construction Trades Department Bob Georgine has made a long heart- aching study of the tragicomedy. This standard power plant is needed to help not only the Virginia- North Carolina areas, but the entire Northeast power grid-- which once failed and blacked out a vast sector right up to the Canadian border.

The environmentalists want the New River, which runs in Virginia, to be included in the list of "study rivers" to be reviewed under the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act.

"This legislation," says Georgine,' "is a last- ditch attempt by some environmentalists to halt a construction project... Blue Ridge, a project badly needed to supplement the expanding base load power plants in the East Central areas. A license application for Blue Ridge has been pending before the Federal Power Commission since February 1965. That's nine years. All aspects of the project have been studied in depth by the company, by the commission's staff and by numerous federal, state and local public agencies and organizations."

There have been extensive public hearings. More then 7,400 pages of sworn testimony and 280 exhibits are in the record. The commission has reported that the project from a power standpoint will benefit all electric utility customers on the Eastern Seaboard as well as Virginia and North Carolina. The grid system enables one utility to come to the aid of another if there is a similar blackout threat.

The project will provide fine recreational grounds around the damned- up areas. Blue Ridge will not affect the air quality. It will improve the water supply. And even make fishing better. But still the environmentalists fight it.

These are but a few of the many activities of the dedicated intervenors. As Georgine concluded, if the issue is "living in beauty or living," the choice is obvious. Fish gotta swim, all right. But man must live. And work to eat to live.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

WASHINGTON-- Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is supposed to be using his diplomatic skills to settle the Cyprus controversy. But the classified diplomatic cables contain no word of the heavy "negotiations" that President Ford has said are going on.

On the contrary, the Turks appear to be settling down for a permanent stay on Cyprus without discussing it with Kissinger. They are setting up a civilian administration in the northern third of the island.

Telephone lines have been strung to the Turkish mainland and former Greek shops are now being operated by Turkish Cypriots. Classified cables from Nicosia also disclose that citrus fruit from Cyprus is being transported to Turkey where it is exported as Turkish products.

The cable traffic also discloses that the Turks have banned all Greek religious services in the occupied towns. Over 170 Greek Orthodox priests have been removed from their parished. Two churches, according to the cables, have been burned to the ground.

INJUSTICE TO INDIANS: There appears to be no end to the injustice inflicted on our neglected native Americans.

Documents in our possession describe severe overcrowding, inadequate care and outright malpractice in our Indian Health Service hospitals.

There is such a shortage of doctors at Oklahoma's Claremore Indian Hospital, for instance, that nurses have been taught to perform surgery.

The documents show they have performed circumcisions and episiotiomies in violation not only of state laws but of the Health, Education and Welfare's Dept.'s rules for protecting human subjects.

Moreover, Indian parents aren't told that nurses were circumcising their babies. Claremore's chief of pediatrics, Dr. Edwin Jones, who has resigned under fire, said he believed the parents would develop "unnecessary anxiety" if they knew nurses were performing the surgery on their babies.

The tragedy is that Dr. Jones felt it was necessary to teach surgery to nurses, thus violating state laws, federal regulations and ethical codes, in order to provide the bare minimum of health care for the Indians.

Footnote: The hospital's chief of staff has confirmed these abuses in a confidential memo to Sen. Henry Jackson, D- Wash., whose subcommittee is investigating Indian health care.

DUAL ROLES: The back door to many a congressman's office can be reached through his law practice. But in the case of two bespectacled, Long Island lawyer- congressmen, the same door has admitted constituents and clients alike.

Reps. Jack Wydler and Jim Grover, both Republicans, came to Congress together in 1962. Each was entitled to a congressional office in his home district, so each simply moved his congressional activities into his law office.

Practicing law and conducting the public business out of the same office was an economy for the congressmen, since the taxpayers put up money for salaries, rent and telephones. But constituents might have wondered whether they would get a legal bill for bringing problems to their congressmen.

Wydler has assured us he separated his congressional and legal offices a couple of years ago.

Grover still serves his clients and constituents out of the same Babylon, N.Y., premises. But he insisted that he pays $205 rent each month of his own pocket on top of the $350 from the government.

He also claimed he supplements the salaries of the two secretaries in his Long Island office, Edith Dirkes and Lorraine Proulx, who draw close to $19,000 a year from the taxpayers.

Grover also put Sam Markowitz on the public payroll for $20,000 a year. However, the latter appears to be working not for the taxpayers, but for the local Republican party. He is reachable at Suffolk County Republican headquarters where he is a press spokesman.

Wydler, incidentally, has accepted campaign contributions from several government contractors, although this appears to be against the law. He received donations from Sidney Horowitz, chairman of the P&F Industries; Frank Lauro, chairman of International Hydronics; A.J. Roach, associated with Telecommunications Industries; and Howard Ris of the Ris Paper Co.

The statue barring contributions from federal contractors, it should be pointed out, is broadly worded and has never been enforced. The Justice Dept. has refused even to issue an advisory opinion on the law's application. Wydler denied any wrongdoing.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Minority businessmen are furious because the Alaska pipeline builders have been virtually ignoring them in spite of a law stressing the need to hire black, Chicano and other minority- run firms. Out of $4 billion in contracts, only around $50 million have gone to minority- operated companies. Latin- origin businessmen are particularly steamed up: they have gotten only $5,000 worth of contracts ... All along, critics of the Federal Energy Administration have been saying it works hand- in- glove with the big power companies. Sure enough, the Atlanta office of FEA has been passing out a press kit prepared in part by the Georgia Power Co., one of the companies FEA is supposed to be regulating.

PARMA — A veterans program will be held at 7 o'clock tonight in the high school gymnasium in conjunction with American Education Week.

Mayor Randall Ramsey has proclaimed Oct. 27-Nov. 2 as American Education Week in Parma, urging everyone to "stay involve."

Vernon "Smoky" Johnson will be guest speaker at tonight's meeting. Music will be presented by the high school and elementary schools, directed by Mrs. Karen Carman and Mrs. Stanley Ray.

The Parma schools will hold open house today from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

American Education Week, observed annually since 1921, seeks to encourage local citizen support and active participation in the improvement of education. This year the program will stress personal involvement. The nationwide event is sponsored by the National Association, the American Legion, the National Congress of Parentsa and Teachers and the U.S. Offfice of Education.

Fire damages Harris home

Fire did slight damage to the Jane Harris home on Route HH three-fourths of a mile east of Highway 61 about 6:30 p.m. Saturday, according to firemen.

The fire, attributed to faulty wiring in the attic, did minor damage to the roof of the house.

Firemen from Sikeston and Miner were called to the scene.

At 3:09 p.m. Sunday, firemen were called to extinguish a burning tree on Highway 61 one-fourth mile south of Highway 60.

The cause of the fire was not determined, firemen said.

At 8:18 p.m. Sunday, firemen were called to the Roy Jones home, 110 Petty St., after a pan that had been left on the stove started smoking. There was no damage.

On July 14, 1853, U.S. Commodore Matthew C. Perry visited Japan in the first attempt to open Japan to trade with the West, The World Almanac recalls.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite defense objections, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica summoned Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt Jr., to the witness stand in the Watergate cover-up trial today, with neither prosecution nor defense willing to vouch that he will tell the truth.

Hunt, who headed the Watergate burglary team, was the second witness called in the trial of H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John N. Mitchell, Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, all former White House or campaign aides to ex-President Richard M. Nixon. All are charged with conspiring to obstruct justice in the Watergate investigation.

As the Watergate cover-up trial entered the fifth week defense lawyers strenuously objected to using the court witness procedure to obtain what they contend will be unreliable testimony.

Haldeman's lawyer, John J. Wilson, was especially vehement about instructions to the jury on the procedure of calling court witnesses.

"I have never read such a startling charge in my life," Wilson said. "It's deceptive. It's not honest."

Plato Cacheris, one of Mitchell's lawyers, called the procedure an "improper influence on the jury. I therefore resist it and resist it vigorously."

Richard Ben-Veniste, an assistant prosecutor who Hunt claims tried to get him to commit perjury, said there are numerous instances before the grand jury when Hunt lied and that the court witness device would permit leading questions to bring out Hunt's motivations to testify falsely.

David G. Bress, representing Mardian, said what the prosecution was proposing was to "say they have a witness who will make out their case but that witness is a liar."

And chief prosecutor James F. Neal said that the government's theory in the case is "that the defendants conspired to pay money ... to Mr. Hunt to keep him from telling what he knows." He said it was necessary to probe exactly what it was that Hunt knew.

At that point Sirica said he would allow Hunt to testify as a court witness.

The government told U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica last week that Hunt had not been "entirely candid" with the grand jury and asked that he be called as a court witness, subject to cross-examination from both prosecution and defense.

"Even after being granted immunity, Mr. Hunt cooperated with the investigation only grudgingly and, we believe, incompletely," the government told Sirica.

The distrust was mutual.

Richard Ben-Veniste, an assistant special prosecutor scheduled to question Hunt, was described by Hunt in a new book as "a curly-headed, abrasive young man," who "was actually encouraging me to perjure myself."

Hunt said Ben-Veniste had made him a special target and attempted to get him to change previously sworn testimony that he had never received an offer of executive clemency.

Hunt figures prominently in the list of overt acts that the government says led to the conspiracy by the five Nixon White House and campaign aides.

The government charges that Ehrlichman and others discussed the need to assure Hunt about how much time he would have to spend in jail and that Ehrlichman, Haldeman, Mitchell, and Parkinson were involved in arranging for hush money payments to Hunt.

The prosecutors charged that on March 21, 1973, after a demand for $120,000 by Hunt, Mitchell authorized a $75,000 payment to him and that on the following day Mitchell assured Ehrlichman that Hunt "was not a problem any longer."

Marvin Eye, 35 of Potosi this morning waived a preliminary hearing on a burglary charge in the Sikeston courtroom in an appearance before Magistrate Tom Brown of Charleston.

Bound over to appear on Nov. 1 in Circuit Court, Eye was returned last week to Scott County from the state penitentiary in Jefferson City to stand trial for a burglary at Amrhein Pharmacy in Illmo. The burglary occurred two years ago.

A set of twins from Kennett, Tena and Cindy Richardson, came out on top in doubles competition. Ann Vangilder and Anitra McKee of Cape Girardeau Central placed second in doubles.

Caruthersville, which came in as the pre- tournament favorite after an undefeated season, finished third in both the doubles and singles. Jimmie Jean Bullington and Kathy Dodd teamed up for third in doubles and Karen Bullington took third in singles.

Other teams entered were Sikeston and Dexter. The Sikeston entries were knocked out in the second round of competition.

The tournament marked the area's first ever on the district level for high school girls in tennis competition, and a state tournament is envisioned for 1975.

The tournament began at 9:30 a.m. and was played on courts at Sikeston Country Club, Central park and Sikeston High School until 7:30 p.m.

3 women priests again defy leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Three women who were ordained as Episcopal priests have again defied their church leaders by celebrating Holy Communion at the nondenominational Riverside Church.

As the women reached a candle-decorated table Sunday at the spot where an altar would have been in an Episcopal church, about 2,000 persons attending the ceremony burst into applause.

Hanging over the chancel rail was a brightly colored sign with the legend: "In Christ there is neither male nor female, bond nor free, Jew nor Gentile, we are one."

The women priests then consecrated the elements of communion, an act historically performed only by male priests. They also gave communion to women and men who did not kneel, another departure from tradition.

The three celebrants said they held the eucharistic service "according to the official authorized services of the Episcopal Church, despite a declaration by the House of Bishops that we are not priests."

The women, the Revs. Alison Cheek of the diocese of Virginia, Carter Heyward of New York and Jeanette Piccard of Minnesota, were ordained in Philadelphia July 29 by four bishops after their diocesan superiors had refused the apostolic laying on of hands.

On Aug. 15 the House of Bishops, one of the governing chambers of the Protestant Episcopal Church, expressed the opinion that the ordinations were invalid. However, the body affirmed its approval in principle of women's ordination.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: You said in your column a while back that cigarette smokers are engaging in oral satisfaction that stems from an infantile and immature need.

Did you know that Dr. Sigmund Freud was unable to quit smoking -- although he was well aware that his tobacco habit was extremely damaging to his health -- because of certain physical disabilities which plagued him for years?

Freud's efforts to stop smoking lasted for nearly a half a century. He recounts his persistent craving and the "torture beyond human endurance" when he did abstain for a period of 14 months. Freud was, after all, a mortal man, but don't you think the father of psychoanalysis would have recognized the existence of a psychological problem, if there had been one?

What is there in tobacco that produces the craving? It is nicotine -- and nicotine is habit- forming. I submit, the habit is more physiological than psychological, a problem of the body rather than the mind. -- Another View

Dear View: You cannot separate the mind from the body. They are one.

Of course nicotine is addictive. So is alcohol. But no one knows why some people can use both in moderation and others cannot. The best authorities say the problem is both physical and emotional -- but mostly emotional.

As for Uncle Sigmund, he had many hangups and suffered a great deal. Among other things, he was through with sex at 41. Well-balanced, he wasn't.

Dear Ann Landers: I was annoyed with your lack of support for the person who wrote about the miracles of witchcraft. Have you been living in a cave for the past ten years? Haven't you read about the miraculous things witches have done -- both in laying on curses and removing them?

My sister- in- law, whose hands were covered with warts, went to a woman who practiced witchcraft. Within three weeks every one of those warts disappeared. And all she did was rub a little castor oil on them at night. Her son went to the witch the following month and was relieved of a terrible pain in his neck within four days. How do you account for these happenings? -- A Believer

Dear B.: Any dermatologist will tell you that warts can be gotten rid of WITHOUT a witch if you put your mind to it and rub a little something on them at night.

Many aches and pains -- and even diseases -- are self-limiting. They disappear without any treatment. And this is why I tell people to get another opinion before they agree to surgery. There are too many unnecessary operations performed in this country.

Dear Ann Landers: Do you have room in your column for one more letter on Kid's Lib? When I read that 13- year- old boy's letter I almost threw up.

I am 13 and that letter went all over our classroom. Almost all the kids agreed your answer was great. The two who thought you were too strict are in trouble all the time.

We are liberated enough -- in fact, some of us are TOO liberated. We wish our parents would take us off the hook by saying "NO!" so we wouldn't be called chicken when we don't want to do certain things. Thanks. Ann. -- For You

Dear For: You're welcome. I'm for you, too.

Do you feel awkward, self- conscious -- lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers's booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

In 1968 it was reported that Zolilio Diaz of Spain had rolled a hoop 600 miles from Mierez to Madrid and back in 18 days

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is part of a series of articles about Sikeston Girl Scout leaders and their feelings about the program. This article was written by Mrs. Bonnie Conn, who lives at 207 Salcedo Road with her husband Terry and three children, Jennifer, Heidi and Jeffery.)

By BONNIE CONN

How happy I am to be a part of such a worthwhile organization and a member of the Cotton Boll Girl Scout Council, which has many dedicated workers and supporters.

Each girl is an individual with different interests and background, who learns to achieve a certain amount of independence and assume her share of responsibilities. She shares her thoughts and feelings and is eager to learn and try new things -- sometimes meeting with failure, but only to profit from it.

I am just one of many trying to encourage and develop better young girls. If I, as a leader, am effective, the organization is effective.

I wouldn't trade anything for the many happy hours, laughs and disappointments that I have shared with my scouts. It is not only a challenging experience to be a Girl Scout leader, but a refreshing and rewarding one, also.

Yes, I am proud to be a Girl Scout leader.

Veal comes from young calves less than three months old and fed on milk or milk products to obtain its fine-grained, high pink meat.

Woman safety officer named

GIDEON — Mrs. Martha Deprow of Tallapoosa has been employed as the Gideon school district attendance and safety officer, beginning with the current school term. The position was opened due to a new program in attendance services and traffic safety.

Mrs. Deprow, as the attendance officer, has the legal status of a deputy sheriff. She is authorized by law to conduct any investigation necessary and to follow all procedures of search and arrest necessary to enforce school attendance laws. Each absentee is checked daily and a complete file and record is kept on absentee reports made by the attendance officer.

She has, as the safety officer, the status of deputy marshal of the city of Gideon. She directs traffic at the school crossing in front of the high school, morning, noon and afternoon.

The uniform and badget which Mrs. Depro wears has been provided to indicate the importance of the new position in the educational program of the Gideon school system.

At Wits End By Erma Bombeck

Prayer of a Housewife Who Gets Out Once a Year and Tonight is the Night.

Please, Lord, don't let the spots on Laurie's chest mean what I think they mean, and if they do mean what we both know they mean, grant that our sitter has had chicken pox.

Give me the humor to smile when I turn on the bath water and realize that someone has left the knob on "shower" and it drenches an $8 hairdo.

Do not let me despair when my husband arrives home thirty minutes late, with a three- day beard that can't wait, a front seat full of dirty Little League bases that smell like a stable, and then tells me he has to stop at a discount house to cash a check.

Smile upon me this one night so that I may not have to endure a klutz on one side who hums the overture and Typhoid Annie who is sitting behind me and is coughing down my back.

And when it rains (as we know it will) lead us into the nearest gas station so that we may buy the refills for our windshield wipers that my husband has been putting off for three years . . . saying the world is due for a drought.

In Your infinite wisdom, help us to ignore our name as it is being paged in the restaurant as we all well know it is the sitter saying that Michael demands an entire bottle of Pepsi and she will not be responsible for his plumbing if he has a whole one instead of a half.

Walk with us as we get the table by the kitchen door and I get the bent fork and my husband's soup is cold and by the time we get to the dance floor the waltz turns into "Tie a Yellow Ribbon 'Round the Old Oak Tree" and we don't dance fast because my husband thought it was a fad that would go out with Gene Kelly.

Comfort us as we go fifteen miles out of our way for a gas station that is open all night and the sitter is angry because we are late and it is a school night and we have to write her a check for the tip and she's never had chicken pox . . . before tonight.

If I ask too much, Lord, give me the strength to say, "Who needs a night out? I'd rather stay at home."

What's the law?

By: JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

To Wilbur's wife, Wilbur was a boozer. To his more understanding and perhaps more humane friends, he was only a social drinker although perhaps more social than others.

At any rate, he walked into his favorite liquor store, and found that the authorities had posted his name on the wall as an "excessive drinker," barring further sales or gifts of liquor to him.

Hurt to the quick, Wilbur soberly hastened to court where he challenged the validity of his name having been so posted.

"It's perfectly legal," responded the state's attorney. "A state has the right to act to crub the evils of drink. Posting the names of excessive imbibers is one way we have of doing it."

"But I'm no excessive drinker," retorted Wilbur. "When I've had too much, even my wife begins to look beautiful, so I know enough to quit before I reach that point."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you rule that posting Wilbur's name was illegal?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that while States have the power to deal with the evils of excessive drinking, they may not post the names of alleged excessive drinkers without first giving them notice and an opportunity for a hearing. Notice and an opportunity to be heard, concluded the judge, in effect, are essential since a person's good name, reputation, honor and integrity are at stake.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

By Lawrence E. Lamb. M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Last year I met a veteran I assume to be 25 years old (more or less). He lives in another state. I've never seen the young man. He is an epileptic. Having lost an only son in the service, I became interested in his case. I advised him last year that I thought the seizures could be controlled, if the proper medicine was taken. I heard from him again this Christmas. He says he is doing fine and has had no more seizures.

I am angered in this way. He has had two pretty good jobs, and would rather not have welfare. But, as soon as his employer finds out of his condition, he is released from his job.

Would you please comment on epilepsy? What causes it? Can there be a good future for him? What kind of work would be more suitable? I imagine he will need training. I am sure God loves this young man and feel 1974 will be a better year for him, especially since his seizures have been controlled.

DEAR READER — Whether God loves this young man or not, it sounds like you do. He is most fortunate to have someone like you for a friend.

It depresses me to see anyone discriminated against because of a medical problem. Of course, there are circumstances where a person can't work at some jobs because of the danger to his own health or to others. But, there are so many job situations where this doesn't apply. Often the medically handicapped individual's greatest obstacle to a good life is the ignorance and prejudicial attitude of many members of our society.

Epilepsy can be a handicap, but it depends entirely upon how severe the problem is and how well controlled it is. You are right, most cases can be managed so that seizures are rare, if they occur at all. There are even new methods which show promising results of controlling or preventing a seizure by electrical means.

Let me say at once that many qualified people have had epilepsy. Both Julius Caesar and Alexander the Great had this problem. Need I say more? If this man's problem is well controlled, he could do any number of jobs, from manual labor to executive positions that he might be qualified for. He could enter the health field, law, teaching, farming or just about anything.

Because of the uncertainty of a seizure and the safety factors involved, it would be unwise to attempt to hold a job as a pilot or a bus driver, or similar occupation.

The cause of epilepsy in most cases is unknown. The mechanism is that a spot in the brain is capable of giving off large voltage discharges. When this happens, it is like having an electrical storm in the brain. The various regions of the brain are stimulated in an irregular fashion. This stimulates the cells that cause the arms, legs and other muscles to contract, causing the convulsion.

Sometimes this overactive spot is caused from a scar from a head injury. Rarely it may be associated with a brain tumor, but usually it occurs with no apparent reason.

But, whatever the cause, such attacks can be controlled or helped medically in most cases so these people can live a happy normal life. The rest is usually up to the individual and the problems created by society.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on ulcers, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Ulcers" booklet.

Private colleges not affected by high rates

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite climbing tuition rates and other problems, a majority of the nation's private colleges maintained or increased enrollment this fall, according to a study released Friday.

The survey by the National Council of Independent Colleges and Universities included 804 of the country's 1,100 private schools. Forty-nine per cent—394 colleges—reported enrollment increases. Another 25 per cent—202 colleges—reported total enrollment equal to last year.

The enrollment increases ranged from 3 per cent to 40 per cent, a council spokesman said. Although no total enrollment figures were available from the study, the spokesman said over-all enrollment in private schools is certainly up.

The increase comes at a time when the college student pool is declining and when some surveys have indicated doubts among young people in the utility of the liberal arts education offered at most private colleges.

"You have to interpret enrollment increases on independent college campuses, at least in part, as a sign of renewed confidence in a liberal arts-oriented education as preparation for the continuously changing job market," said Thomas Bonner, president of Union College in Schenectady, N.Y.

Howard Bowen, former chancellor of the Claremont colleges in California and a highly regarded education economist, said the job shortages may be causing young people to go to college.

"They may expect the economy and the job market to bounce back shortly and just want something to do in the interim," said Bowen.

The study also reported that 57 per cent of the private schools had larger freshman classes than last year and 23 per cent had freshman classes of about the same size.

The National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant colleges last spring predicted a decline in freshman enrollment at public institutions across the country. It would be the first peacetime decline in enrollment at public colleges and universities.

The enrollment increases at private colleges come at a time when rising tuition had been expected to decrease their appeal.

The College Entrance Examination Board reported that a student living at the private school would pay an average of $4,039 this year, up 9.4 per cent or $346 from last year and up 35.8 per cent since 1971.

By comparison, a student living and going to school at a publicly supported college or university will pay an average of $2,400 this year.

Highlights and Sidelights

JEFFERSON CITY — The 1974 general elections will be held Tuesday (Nov. 5) to select a U. S. Senator, state Auditor, 10 congressmen, 17 state Senators, 96 Representatives and, technically, 13 circuit court judges.

Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick estimates 56 per cent of the Missourians registered to vote will actually take part in the election.

"It looks like 1974 will see a drop in total vote and in the percentage of voters casting ballots," Kirkpatrick predicts. "People seem unhappy with the political system and more willing to 'drop out' than get involved and help correct its flaws."

The tip race on the ballot is the one for U. S. Senator. Incumbent Thomas F. Eagleton faces former Congressman Thomas Curtis in a contest most observers feel Eagleton will win handily.

Both Curtis and Eagleton publicly say inflation is the number one issue in their campaigns, but both take different stances toward a solution.

Curtis, the Republican, feels inflation is directly caused by excessive federal spending and over- extension of the federal government. Eagleton, the Democrat, would cut federal defense spending and foreign aid spending while eliminating the oil depletion allowance for the oil companies.

In the only state office election this year, Auditor John D. Ashcroft is seeking election to his first full term in the post. Gov. Christopher S. Bond appointed Ashcroft is succeed him in the aduitor's office when he was elected governor in 1972.

Ashcroft's Democratic opponent, George Lehr, has promised the first priority of his staff, if elected, would be to audit the Missouri Public Service Commission and use the auditor's staff to examine utility rate increases as protection for consumer interests.

Republican Ashcroft has stressed the savings he says have been realized from his auditing over the past two years, and stresses further professionalism of the auditor's office.

There will be twenty candidates for the 10 U. S. House of Representatives seats. All incumbents are running for re-election, and the Missouri delegation in 1975 is expected to remain 9-1 Democratic.

Seven of the 10 state Senate seats up for election this year were filled during the August primarly election. But, even without any upsets in the general election, the state Senate will have the biggest turnover in several years since three incumbents chose not to run for re- election and two more were defeated in the primary.

In the Missouri House, where all 163 representatives must run every two years, 96 seats will be contested Tuesday. The other 67 already have been filled by primary elections. In those primaries, Republicans won 19 seats without Democratic opposition and Democrats won 48 without Republican opposition.

Democrats need only 34 more seats to control the House, and they are expected to get them. Because only half of the state Senate is elected in any election year, Republicans cannot gain control of the Senate.

There also will be two constitutional amendments and one proposition on Tuesday's ballot.

One of the constitutional amendments is a housecleaning measure substituting the age 18 for 21 in the Missouri Constitution regulating voting ages. The other would authorize municipalities and counties to incur indebtedness for the construction of industrial facilities.

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom O'Horgan, known for his direction of the Broadway hits "Hair" and "Jesus Christ Superstar," has put together a musical that features 28 songs made famous by the Beatles.

"How many shows have there been with this many hit songs?" asked O'Horgan.

"It is closer to the 18th century 'Beggar's Opera' than anything," O'Horgan said, referring to the story made up of current tunes of that time. "No songs were written just for that show."

"Sgt. Pepper" will open in a house built for vaudeville and movies and lately used for rock concerts, the Beacon Theater, on Nov. 14. The show's 32-member cast put on a run-through performance Thursday afternoon here.

The show will play in Hartford Nov. 4-10 and open in New York for four weeks. There are plans to bring the show later to Philadelphia, Chicago, Baltimore and other cities.

Robin Wagner, who worked with O'Horgan on "Lenny" and "Superstar," had the idea for the Beatles' show first, O'Horgan said.

O'Horgan said, "... We've long dreamed of doing something for an alternate theater. There were a lot of people who resisted going to 'Jesus Christ Superstar' because it was on Broadway. They don't like that kind of formality."

O'Horgan said, "Robin and I took the 'Sgt. Pepper' record and thought we'd do an elaborate concert with it. After we got into it, we felt it would be an ideal vehicle for this kind of theater."

The Rev. Charles E. Harris, 74- year- old retired minister of McMullin, who was injured on the morning of September 11 when he was struck on Highway 61 by a car, died Tuesday in Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape, where he had been confined since the accident.

The marriage of Mary Baker and Sidney L. Schillig, both of Sikeston, was solemnized Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Baker in Cape Girardeau.

The foundation is now being laid for the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lancaster on Matthews street. This will, when completed, be a modern four- room house, with basement.

Funeral services for Mrs. Price Faris Hess of Charleston, who died of heart trouble at a Cape Girardeau hospital Sunday, were held Monday.

Eleven Sikeston men were accepted at Jefferson Barracks October 25, according to the Scott County selective service board. They were: Clyde Barber, Charles Theodore Morgan, Richard William Schlegel, Charles Graham, James Thomas Brovillette, Donald Denver Thomasson, Ules Arlen Hobbs, Earl Raymond Kelton, William Cleon Porter, William Boyd Neal, and James Daniel Denton.

The Rev. Wm. D. Butler, 72 years old, a Missionary Baptist Church minister and farmer near Benton, died of pneumonia at Missouri Baptist Hospital in St. Louis early Sunday. He had undergone an operation last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rider left Saturday for Washington, D. C. where they will make their home. Mr. Rider has previously been employed as a mechanic at the local M. I. A.

Mrs. J. W. Gilliam, who has spent the past three months with her daughter, Mrs. James Coats, left Friday for Elgin, Ill., where she will make her home.

A daughter was born Friday at St. Francis Hospital, Cape Girardeau, to Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Felter of Benton.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Miller, jr., of Benton are parents of a son born Sunay at Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape.

Word was received here by relatives of the death of Mrs. Maggie Gray, who died at her home in Fredericktown Tuesday, due to infirmities of age. She was 93. Mrs. Ella Hunter, Mrs. Lillian Miller and Mrs. Margaret Anthony of Sikeston are nieces of the deceased.

Sikeston, a perennial powerhouse in the Southeastern part of the state, took the top post among Missouri high school football teams in the mid- season poll of the Missouri Sportswriters Association.

Rather a chilly weekend seems to be indicated but you never can tell. Yesterday's high was 60 and last night it dropped to 40.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Killian and daughter, Donna, who have resided in Garden City, Mich., for several years, have returned to Sikeston to make their home. They have been guests of his sister, Mrs. Herbert Yancey and family. Mr. Yancey is in Mobile, Ala., where he has secured employment and his family plans to join him there as soon as a residence is secured.

Burlison asks city to advise on treatment

PERRYVILLE-- Tenth District Rep Bill Burlison asked Perryville businessmen Thursday night to keep him advised abut their experiences with the city's new waste treatment program.

"Because one of my appropriations subcommittee jurisdictions is the Environmental Protection Agency, I would be most appreciative of your thoughts as you observe this program from your grass roots perspective," Burlison said while addressing a Chamber of Commerce quarterly meeting.

The city of Perryville has received Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) grants in excess of $2 million for the construction of a new waste treatment plant, lift station and two interceptor sewers.

Burlison cited a controversial section of the Clean Water Bill that requires all users, including businesses, to pay a proportionate share of capital, operating and maintenance costs of any waste treatment facility constructed with federal funds under authority of the Federal Water Pollution Act Amendments of 1972 and said that many small business enterprises fear they will suffer economically because of the user charge requirement.

This has been the case with Perryville, Burlison said.

It is extremely doubtful that Congress will repeal the user charge requirements, Burlison said, but added that he thinks some relief might be granted to business concerns that suffer extreme hardship due to the EPA regulations.

"If it can be shown that complying with the waste treatment user charges causes an undue or excessive economic burden on a particular industrial plant, then steps should be taken to grant a waiver of the user charge," Burlison said.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS

STRAIGHT TICKET

SPLIT TICKET

If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates on more than one party ticket, by voting what is commonly called a "split ticket" he may place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below one party name and mark cross (X) marks in the squares at the left of the names of candidates on other tickets for whom he wishes to vote.

Where there are two or more candidates for like office in a group, a cross (X) mark in the square to the left of a candidate's name automatically votes against the candidate whose name appears within the same horizontal lines in the column under the circle in which appears the cross (X) mark, unless the voter indicates another candidate to be voted against by drawing a line through such candidate's name.

WRITE-INS

If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates whose name or names do not appear on the printed ballot he may do so by drawing a line through the printed name of candidate for such office, and writing below such canceled name the name of person for whom he desires to vote, and placing a cross mark in the square at the left of such name. The squares so marked shall take precedence over the cross marked in the circle.

All candidates of the party whose circle is marked shall be counted as voted for excepting where squares are crossed preceding the names of the candidates in other columns. If two or more candidates for the same office are thus designated, neither shall be counted. If the cross (X) is not placed in the circle immediately below the party name at the head of the column, but does appear in the squares opposite the various candidates' names, then only these names shall be counted for, and none other. A cross (X) mark is any line crossing any other line at any angle within the voting space, and no ballot shall be declared void because a cross (X) mark therein is irregular in form.

It is unlawful to deface or tear a ballot in any manner or to erase any printed name (except as provided above in this section), figure, word or letter therefrom, or to erase any mark made thereon by the voter, or to enclose in the folded ballot any other paper or any article. If the voter defaces or tears a ballot, or wrongly marks the name or makes an erasure therein, he may obtain one additional ballot on returning to a judge in charge of the ballots the one so defaced or wrongly marked. He shall at once mark and vote the ballot and the spoiled ballot shall be marked "void" in the voter's presence. A person who does not vote a ballot delivered to him shall, before leaving the polling place, return the unvoted ballot to the judges having charge of the ballots.

A ballot placed in the ballot box without any marks shall not be counted. Ballots shall be counted only for the person for whom the marks thereon are applicable; when a voter places a mark against two or more names for the same office, and only one candidate is to be chosen for the office, none of the candidates is deemed to have been voted for and the ballot shall not be counted for either candidate.

Before leaving the booth the voter shall fold his ballot in such a manner as to conceal his marks thereon. He shall mark his ballot without undue delay. He shall then deposit his ballot in the ballot box being used at that time and shall quit and leave the enclosed place as soon as possible.

(Sec. 111.451 RSMo. 1969)

OFFICIAL BALLOT

PLANNING & ZONING

Scott County, November 5, 1974

Proposition: The County Court of Scott County, Missouri has elected to submit to the voters the proposition for the establishment of county planning and zoning for the purpose of developing a comprehensive plan to conserve and protect property and building values, to secure the most economical use of the land, and to facilitate the adequate provision of public improvements in the unincorporated portion of the county, as more fully set out in Sections 64.800 to 64.905, Laws of Missouri, 1969, for the approval or rejection by the voters. If a majority of the votes cast at the general election be in favor of county planning and zoning the County Court shall create by order entered of record zoning regulations as provided in Sections 64.845 to 64.905, Laws of Missouri, 1969.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS

To vote in favor of the proposition submitted upon this ballot, place a cross mark (X) in the square opposite the wording "For county planning and zoning", to vote against the proposition submitted upon this ballot, place a cross mark (X) in the square opposite the wording "Against county planning and zoning."

Madrid center plans Head Start events

NEW MADRID — Special events have been planned for the observance of Missouri Head Start Week this week by the New Madrid Head Start Center.

Parents of Head Start children today put up appropriate posters calling attention to the occasion. On Tuesday, Mrs. Joyce Jordan of Lilbourn, a ventriloquist, will entertain the children at 10 a.m.

A tea for the mothers of Head Start children is scheduled at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Johnny Presson will play the guitar and the children will entertain the parents.

A trick or treat party is planned on Thursday at 10 a.m. by volunteer parents who will play witches and ghosts. The rooms will trick or treat each other.

World News in Brief

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — A lengthy ordeal appears in prospect for most of the 17 persons being held by a Palestinian guerrilla and three other convicts in a prison chapel. The four men who took over the chapel at Scheveningen Penitentiary Saturday night during Mass freed a man, a woman and three children Sunday. But Dutch authorities said they would not enter into detailed negotiations until they freed two more women and a child.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi gave Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger a frosty reception at the start of his visit to mend relations between the United States and India. But both agreed today that those relations are "on the way up."

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — An impasse over the rival claims of Jordan and the Palestine Liberation Organization to future control of the West Bank of the Jordan river is blocking discussion of other matters at the Arab summit conference. No compromise appears likely.

TORONTO, Ontario (AP) — Margaret Trudeau says the stress of being the wife of Canada's prime minister, anxiety over the birth of their second child and her first active political campaign all contributed to the mental troubles that sent her to the hospital last month for psychiatric care.

may be realized by comparing them with the outlays for other governmental operations, as detailed in the 1974 budget.

The $30 billion required for interest this year is three times more, for example, than the government is spending for education and manpower training combined.

It is over four times the amount that is being spent in the field of health care and five times as much as is going into general revenue sharing.

The only way to wipe out this burden would be to pay off the debt of $495 billion, which is practically impossible and is seldom suggested.

Scott County's share of the repayment, based upon local incomes and population, would be over $60,143,000.

family in Scott County, it means that some $320 of the amount being collected from them annually by the government is to pay the interest on the debt.

The debt ceiling has been raised frequently in recent years, chiefly to cover deficit spending. President Ford has asked Congress to help eliminate such deficits in the future by reducing governmental expenditures.

Since 1960, according to the Treasury Department, the interest on the national debt has soared from $9.2 billion a year to the present level of $30 billion.

The net effect, for Scott County families, is that they are paying more than three times as much in carrying charges as they did then.

Just how large these interest costs have become

3 fined in Police Court

PORTAGEVILLE — POLICE Judge Taylor Noles Sr. imposed three fines today in Police Court. Louis Raymond Savat was fined $80 for driving while intoxicated and reckless driving, Merrill Nanney was fined $35 for careless and reckless driving and Bill Jeffords of Marston was fined $45 for driving while intoxicated and driving on the wrong side of the road.

Crump home is burglarized

MATTHEWS - The Bobby Crump home on Highway 80 four miles east of town was burglarized sometime Saturday or Saturday night.

Odd coins valued at $60, a tear gas pistol and assorted jewelry were reported stolen.

CHARLESTON — A felony charge of possession of a dangerous and deadly weapon while intoxicated has been filed against David Holifield, 28, of rural East Prairie, following his arrest Saturday night,.

Deputy Sherifff Norris Grissom said today that Holifield is accused of shooting through the back window of a car driven by Sam Story of Charleston with a .357 magnum revolver about 8 p.m. Saturday as the Story car passed the Holifield home, two miles northeast of East Prairie.

The bullet went through the rear window, struck the front windshield, glanced off and imbedded in the dash. The bullet missed Glen Nunn, a passenger in the Story car, by about two inches.

Holifield, who is free on bond, will be arraigned Thursday in Magistrate Court.

4 arrested

NEW MADRID — Four arrests were made by city police during the weekend, according to Marshal Virgil "Flip" Dees.

Joe Ross and Willie Lee Humphrey of New Madrid were released under bonds of $100 each on charges of driving while intoxicated, and Junior Brown of Catron posted a $25 bond on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a license.

Sylvester Grandberry was fined $10 today by Judge G. G. Dawson for peace disturbance.

Insurance fraud scheme uncovered

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—A suspected scheme by doctors to defraud insurance companies by reporting fake illnesses has been uncovered in the St. Louis area, Missouri Insurance Supt. Edward G. Farmer said today.

"Fraud is the word," Farmer said. "We'll name the dates, places and doctors."

He would not reveal any dates, places or names at this time, however.

Farmer said 33 insurance companies and about 40 persons were involved, although he didn't know exactly how many doctors were involved.

"We're working closely with the U. S. Attorney," he said. "It could be a $3 million to $30 million loss. It's nationwide...we want to scare these people so they won't do it again."

The investigation had not uncovered any similar incidents in Missouri other than in the St. Louis area.

Reporters for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat posed as patients and the doctors filled out medical insurance forms, a Division of Insurance spokesman said.

The Globe reporters helped Insurance Division agent Pete Dakarus and other agents on the eight-month investigation. The investigation was disclosed today in the first of about eight planned articles, Farmer said.

Farmer said the Insurance Division got onto the scheme through a complaint with his office.

Farmer said the alleged injuries, usually to the back or neck, were the kind difficult to diagnose and contest in court, often reportedly resulting from a fall.

A physician would back the false insurance claim, Farmer said. The doctor would admit a policyholder to a hospital and receive fees from the patient and group insurance payments.

Farmer said the fake illness reports involved employment sick leave, accident insurance and medical insurance. Some persons held as many as 20 policies with various companies, Farmer said, and they would make a claim for one injury with all the companies.

Investigators posing as patients said some doctors would charge up to $15 for signing sick leave statements.

Farmer said his investigators had not discovered any fake workmen's compensation claims for on-the-job injuries. However, he said, sick leaves could force an employer to hire an inexperienced person who might more easily be injured on the job.

Jaycee's remain strong

At Middle School field Saturday Little league football action resumed when the Jaycee's defeated a vastly improved Bank of Sikeston team 14- 6. JC's kicked the opening kickoff into the end zone and BS started play on the fifteen. After a series of downs BS fumbled and Scott Pool of the JC's recovered. Halfback Kevin Shelton of the JC's swept left end to the BS one. Shelton ran the same play and scored. Shelton was called on again and ran the point after in.

In the second quarter Bank of Sikeston's Tim McKinney skirted end for a 15 yard run to the JC one. Quarterback Danny Smith scored on a quarterback sneek. Point after missed. Half JC's 7 BS 6.

Early in the third quarter JC Paul Freeman swept left end for a 35 yard carry to the BS 2. On the next play Brete Blanton scored on a run around right end. Buzz Ferrell scored the extra point on a quarterback keeper right. Band of Sikeston's Floyd Greer returned the kickoff to midfield. Jaycee's held from there on and when they had their turn on offense fumbled and BS Tommy Sanders recovered.

In the fourth quarter Bank of Sikeston penetrated the JC defense to the ten but couldn't score. Final 14- 6. Bank of Sikeston looks like the most improved team on the field today.

Bulldog 8th post 4th win

Coach John Heacox's eighth grade football team ran their season record to 4- 1 Saturday afternoon at Perryville with a 28- 16 victory and are scheduled to meet Charleston Thursday afternoon at Public School Stadium in the final game of the campaign at 5 p.m.

The future varsity football stars rolled up a 14- 0 lead in the first half before allowing the Pirates to get on the scoreboard.

Jay Cox passed to Jeff Young for 25 yards and a first quarter TD, ending a 65 yard drive the first time they got the ball. Gary Leonard ran the ball for a two point conversion and a 8- 0 lead.

Leonard dashed 25 yards minutes later on a triple option play to run the score to 14- 0 as the extra point kick failed.

Perryville scored in the second period on a 75 yard pass play and added a two point conversion with a run to make the halftime score 14- 8.

Both teams battled through a scoreless third quarter as Sikeston had two TD's called back on clipping penalties.

Scott Heeb sped 32 yards for a fourth quarter score to make it 20- 8.

Jay Cox set up the final Sikeston score with an interception that opened the door for Scott Walls' five yard run. Cox ran the two point conversion.

An inspired National Lock team outplayed the Daily Standard team Saturday and avenged an earlier defeat by them.

National Lock received the opening kickoff and marched to the Standard ten but fumbled and Standard recovered. Standard couldn't move the ball and had to punt. Lock's Mike Brasheer returned it to midfield. With two minutes remaining in the quarter Kyles pass was picked off by Standard's Jeff Davidson at the ten.

In the second quarter after a sustained drive Kyle of Lock completed a screen pass to Vince Williams who ran it in for the score. Joey Kyle called upon end Paul Murphy for his next target and made the extra point. Lock held on to lead at the half 7- 0.

Lock's third quarter team was not to be outdone and held on to the lead and even blocked a Standard punt. With two minutes to go in the quarter Lock's Todd Barborek scored on a quarterback sweep around left end. Point after missed.

In the fourth quarter fumbles were numerous. Lock fumbled on the Standard twenty and Ronnie Taylor of the Standard recovered. Standard returned the fumble a few minutes later and Lock's Cliff McCoy recovered. About midway through the quarter Standard fumbled in their backfield and Lock's Joey Kyle picked it up and ran 25 yards to score. Point after missed. On the last play of the game Standard got on the scoreboard when quarterback Harry Tope skirted right end for a ten yard score. Final National Lock 19 Daily Standard 6.

The Jaycee's sponsor of the little league need a big hand for getting all the helmets fixed this week so the players could resume play. Special thanks should be given to Commissioner Chuck Blumenberg, who takes care of arrangements for the games and attends them to see that everything goes according to the rules. The crowds get larger every week and fans next week is the end of the season and the winner is still not decided.

The "Sounds" of Memphis will be loud and clear this season. Mike Storen will see to it that the noise from Memphis will reverberate throughout the ABA. Storen, the league's commissioner for nearly a year, resigned the post in July to take the reins of the Memphis team, with a past record of having built strong ABA franchises in Indiana and Kentucky. He emphasized he was no miracle worker, "but if good, hard work 24 hours a day with a first-class operation can produce results, we'll produce results." Storen's rapid-fire series of maneuverings off the court — including the acquisition of ABA star Roger Brown — are certain to pay off once the season begins. In only a couple of months, the energetic Storen has turned the franchise on "high."

FORWARDS: Following Storen's whirlwind trading binge, the Sounds came up with a good blend up front, a mixture of scorers, rebounders and defensive players. George Carter, a well-traveled veteran, heads the group. He averaged nearly 20 points a game and was a solid rebounder for Virginia last season. Julius Keye led Denver in rebounding for three straight years before finishing second last season. He also is a fine defensive player. Collis Jones is young and eager, and Ronnie Robinson is strong and has good potential. Rating: B.

CENTER: To solidify the key position on the team, Storen went to his old Indiana team and acquired one of his favorite players, Mel Daniels. Daniels is the only ABA player to be chosen for each of the league's seven All-Star games. He also is a two-time MVP and the league's regular-season career leader in points, rebounds, two-point field goals and fouls. For his career, he has averaged about 20 points and 16 rebounds a game. Last season, however, he appeared to have deteriorated and his interest seemed to have waned. But under Storen, he may be rejuvenated. Backup Lee Davis is one of the few holdovers from last year's Memphis team. Rating: B.

GUARDS: Freddie Lewis was another Indiana veteran nabbed by Storen. Lewis, the MVP in the 1972 playoffs, is a clutch shooter and clever floor man, operating with precision-like certainty. Rick Mount was acquired from Utah, but he too, played for Storen at Indiana. He is one of the best pure shooters in the league. Chuck Williams, a smart playmaker and good outside shooter, came from Kentucky, and Mike Barr was obtained from Virginia. Rating: B+.

PREDICTION: Storen has done a remarkable job of revamping the entire club, including hiring Joe Mullaney as coach, especially in light of the little bargaining material he had at his original disposal. But he managed to corral several winning-type players, and in particular, a winning coach. Fourth in East.

Big Red...7-0

ST. LOUIS — Half a season does not a whole make, but what a half- season the football Cardinals have enjoyed.

They are unbeaten through the first seven games of the season and got a standing ovation from a turnout of 49,410 Sunday at Busch Memorial Stadium after holding off the Washington Redskins, 23-20.

It seemed that the Miracle Mets of baseball in 1969 had turned to football. At last, St. Louis was completely behind the Big Red. The city at last had its winner.

Washington wasn't impressed with the Cardinals' momentum or fandom. The Skins, after falling behind by 16 points early, made a game of it before the Cardinals could claim a 7-0 record, their best start - by two victories - since moving to St. Louis in 1960.

The victory put the Cardinals three games ahead of the Philadelphia Eagles and three ahead of the 4-3 Skins in the National Conference East. The Cardinals aren't billing themselves as a playoff entry yet, but the thought of a postseason shot isn't out of their minds.

Washington, with the NFC's top-ranked defense, against the Big Red, who went into Week No. 7 ranked last among National conference teams in yardage allowed. Sonny Jurgensen, the NFC's second- ranking passer, against Jim Hart, ranked No. 3.

Redskin coach George Allen took lesson No. 1 from Cardinal coach Don Coryell's book on humility. With this victory, the Cardinals became the first team ever to whip an Allen team twice in a season since he became an NFL head coach. The cards upset Washington, 17-10, Sept. 22.

The Cardinals were off to a 16-0 advantage by the time 2½ minutes had elapsed in the second quarter. They tripped Allen at his own game — taking advantage of the other guy's mistakes — to grab a lead without running a play from scrimmage.

But they hadn't shut down Jurgensen, the quarterback with a pot belly befitting a proper 40- year - old. When Jurgensen rose up, the Cardinals found themselves looking down the barrel of defeat.

Jim Bakken's point after touchdown was blocked by Ron McDole — the first time Bakken has ever had three unsuccessful attempts during one season.

The interception was the 13th of Wehrli's career but the first he's returned for a TD since he left the University of Missouri - Columbia six years ago.

St. Louis was living right, just as it has been since mid-September. For instance, a punt return attempt by flashing Terry Metcalf popped up, off his shoulder pad, but he grabbed the ball in mid-air and returned it 10 yards to the Cardinals 43-yard line, setting up the second Big Red score.

Hart, keying a drive with throws of 13 and 12 yards to wide receiver Earl Thomas for first downs, took the Big Red to the Washington 20 late in the first period. Then things seemed to go sour. Imagine, Hart sacked! But he was, by the Skins' Bill Brundige, only the second time this year he's been dumped while trying to pass.

So Bakken came on in a fourth and- 16 situation and kicked a 47- yard field goal, tying his longest effort of the campaign.

Reserve cornerback Dwayne Crump and strong safety Ken Reaves, the later recently acquired from New Orleans, set up an opportunity for the Big Red to go up by 16 points. On a third-- and- two from the Washington 29, they stopped fromer NFC rushing champ Larry Brown for no gain. Mike Bragg's punt squibbed only 10 yards, and the Cardinals got the ball on the Redskin 49.

Four plays later, Hart and Thomas teamed up for a 52-yard touchdown. Thomas, who came to the Cardinals from the Chicago Bears in training camp in one of the best trades St. Louis has made in recent memory, stretched out for the bomb from Hart and beat former Cardinal cornerback Pat Fischer to the end zone. Bakken's conversion made it a 16- point lead.

But to have Jurgensen down is not to have him out.

The elder statesman of the National Conference took the Skins to where Mark Moseley could boom through a 48- yard field goal. Then, with time remaining in the first half, he directed a classic drive that took the Redskins to within six points at 16-10.

Thomas dumped punt returner Joe Theismann on the Washington 5- yard line, and Jurgy went to work with 2:47 to play in the half. He opened with a 29- yarder to Taylor and followed with a 22- yard throw to seldom - used Frank Grant. After Cardinal defensive lineman Bob Rowe, Ron Yankowski and Council Rudolph had sacked him for a nine- yard loss, he went right back to the task at hand.

With look-in passes to Taylor, tight end Jerry Smith and a final two- yarder to Brown, Jurgensen took the Skins 95 yards on a scoring drive that consumed only 2:35. He had 12 seconds to spare.

Moseley's kick made it 16-10, and the momentum clearly had turned.

Jurgensen and his troops kept the ball for almost seven minutes in a third- quarter drive that lasted 14 plays, but didn't result in the go-ahead touchdown.

What Jurgensen, with all his poise and experience, coudln't do. Hart could. He opened the subsequent possession with a 29- yard look-in to Thomas. Three plays later, Metcalf stutter-stepped his way nine yards for a first down from a third - and- eight.

Then Hart, with a first-and- 10 from the Washington 17, scrambled to his right in uncharacteristic fashion and, just before being banged to the Astro Turf, flung the ball to running back Donny Anderson, all alone in the end zone. The touchdown, followed by a Bakken extra point, came with 2:48 to play in the third quarter. The Big Red had a 10- point lead at 23-13 and probably didn't expect to be held scoreless the rest of the way.

With a third- and- one at his own 26 late in the third quarter, he fired his failsafe look-in pass to Taylor 15 yards upfield. But free safety Clarence Duren forced an incompletion when he almost dismantled the All-Pro wide receiver.

Bakken got plenty of toe into a field goal attempt from 47 yards early in the fourth period, but the ball drifted wide. Suddenly, it appeared that that miss and his earlier misfire on an extra point might prove disastrous.

Back came Jurgensen.

Even with the Cardinal defensive line sacking him twice and reserve quarterback Theismann once in a drive, the 18- year veteran put a touchdown on the board. The capper was a 13-yard play to Brown at the back of the end zone with 6:13 to go.

The Cardinals disputed the play, claiming Brown didn't have both feet in the end zone. The replay showed that he had come down with only one foot in.

Now it's on to Dallas for Sunday No. 8.

MURRAY OLDERMAN

PRO CHARTS

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS

The Cardinals, under Don Coryell, manage to make it exciting — they put points up on the board. Trouble is, they also give them up with equal facility. Key to the progress will be ability of defensive unit to catch up with offense. They've made no major trades yet to help them in that area. Might emphasize running game a little more to establish ball control.

OFFENSE

PASSING — Finally given job all to himself, Jim Hart had best season ever as effective thrower (team record of 55.6 per cent completions). At 30, he should be at peak. For insurance, Coryell felt need for experienced backup and traded for Dennis Shaw, whom he coached at San Diego State. GOOD.

RECEIVING — Definite swing to the big strong type as the primary receivers, except for darter Mel Gray, who caught for seven TD's last year and is a game-breaker. Big experiment is conversion of top rookie J.V. Cain from tight end to wide spot. And they also acquired Earl Thomas, another dual-performance type, from Chicago Bears. Nominal tight end remains perennial Jackie Smith. VERY GOOD.

RUNNING — Coryell felt need for workhorse type to set off such racehorses as Terry Metcalf and Willie Belton, therefore picked up Ken Willard, old but useful blocker. Donnie Anderson, no speedster but very versatile, had one of his best years — he's halfback type, too. Other man in burly brigade is Jim Otis. GOOD.

BLOCKING — Fair enough mix of experiment and youth. Ernie McMillan starts his 14th season as the left tackle anchor. The other tackle, Don Dierdorf, is fourth year man headed for all-pro lists. Also drafted Greg Kindle of Tennessee. The quality and depth drop off in middle, where major shift finds exguard Tom Banks taking over for departed Wayne Mulligan at center. FAIR.

DEFENSE

FRONT FOUR — If bulk alone will do it, Dave Butz holds the key. Major move has him moving his 280 pounds from end to tackle, alongside vet Bob Rowe. Remarkable Bonnie Sloan can conquer deafness but can't seem to avoid injury. The ends are a real scramble for adequate bodies, using such pickups as Oiler discard Leo Brooks. POOR.

LINEBACKING — Not half bad even if they did decide to dump Jamie Rivers as the middle man (to Jets). That's because defensive coach Ray Willsey figured third-year player Mark Arneson is ready to be the jelling force as the middle linebacker. He has a couple of strong vets on either side, Larry Stallings (in his 12th year) and Pete Barnes (a hitter). Jim Sniadecki, a lame duck WFLer, can swing for a year. GOOD.

SECONDARY — Most unsettled because they really aren't satisfied with the quality or consistency of most of the incumbents. The only established guy is Roger Wehrli, who's been shifted between corner and safety and back to corner for five years and would be all-pro on a good team. Youngster with best chance to develop is safety Clarence Duren. FAIR.

KICKING — Among the most consistent field goal booters for 12 years has been Jim Bakken. He persists. Punting could revert back to Donnie Anderson, who doesn't get much distance but lots of loft to his left-footed boots. Or spare QB Gary Keithley. GOOD.

PREDICTION

That defense simply looks too porous to make anyone take Cards seriously — so consign them to last in NFC East.

Despite the enviable combination of a winning record, hometown talent and a basketball-hungry state, the Carolina Cougars couldn't find box office success in North Carolina last season and so during the summer, the franchise was shifted to St. Louis by four New York executives who purchased the team from Tedd Munchak.

St. Louis has been without pro basketball since 1968 when the NBA's St. Louis Hawks moved to Atlanta. That team built a winning tradition along with one of the better attendances in the NBA, and the new ABA team in St. Louis is hoping for similar success. Unlike Carolina, which was a regional franchise, playing its home games in Charlotte, Greensboro and Raleigh, the Spirits will play on only one home court, the 18,000-seat St. Louis Arena. The new owners had to rebuild fast, because three of the starters on last season's team were let go by Munchak, including All-Star guards Ted McClain and Mack Calvin, plus center Jim Chones. So were Coach Larry Brown and General Manager Carl Scheer.

FORWARDS: This is where the Spirits have their only two remaining starters, Billy Cunningham and Joe Caldwell — and Cunningham is doubtful. At last word, Cunningham had decided either to play with Philadelphia or sit out the year. The veteran Caldwell, one of the game's great leapers, has said this would be his last season of pro ball. On the bench, the Spirits have veterans Ed Manning, Tom Owens and Dennis Wuycik plus rookie Gus Gerard. Rating: B.

CENTERS: Marvin Barnes, the All-American from Providence, is the team's future, having signed a six-year contract for an estimated $2.5 million. During his three varsity seasons, he was one of the nation's leading rebounders, winning the rebounding title last season. He also averaged over 20 points a game during his Providence career. His collegiate coach, Dave Gavitt, calls him an extremely unselfish player. Mike Lewis, who has missed virtually all of the last two seasons because of tendon operations, and rookie Mickey Johnson are the backups. Rating: A-.

GUARDS: The losses of McClain and Calvin are serious blows to the team's backcourt, and new Coach Bob MacKinnon will have difficulty finding a combination even closely resembling last season's All-Stars. His choices will come mostly from newcomers, with Gene Littles the lone holdover. Included in the rookie contingent is James "Fly" Williams, the scoring sensation from Austin Peay. Williams, however, played up front in college and may have difficulty adjusting in the pros. Jimmy Foster is the other rookie. Rating: C.

PREDICTION: The firepower of Cunningham, provided he has fully recuperated from his operations, and the sensational Barnes, the most highly regarded pro rookie except for Bill Walton, will carry the Spirits a long way. If they get some help from the backcourt, it would be a big plus. Third in East.

Everage sparks SeMo

ST. JOSEPH, MO. (AP)— Bobby Everage's 80- yard end run for a touchdown featured Southeast Missouri's 23- 17 victory over Missouri Western Saturday.

The run by Everage, from Alton, Ill., followed a 35- yard field goal by Mike Wood and gave the Cape Indians a 10- 0 lead in the first quarter.

Two passes by Rick Weiser turned into touchdowns for Southeast. One was a 17- yard scoring strike to Ed Slaughter, the other 22 yards to David Goncher, who then fumbled the ball. His teammate, tackle Robert Stolzer, picked up the ball and ran 16 yards for a touchdown.

Southeast has a 4- 3 record, Western 1- 7.

Smith inducted

COLUMBIA, Mo.-- Harry Smith, ex- football coach and two- time all- American guard at the University of Southern California, is a 1974 honoree in the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame.

Chosen by vote of the state's sportswriters and sportscasters, along with Emmett R. (Abe) Stuber, Smith will be officially inducted into the state's Hall of Fame at an awards dinner here on Nov. 23, following the Missouri- Kansas football game.

A reception at the Tiger hotel will start at 5 p.m., with the dinner at 7 p.m. Tickets, $7.00 each, may be obtained by writing: Don Faurot, Hearnes Multipurpose Bldg., Columbia, Mo., 65201.

Smith, a husky native of Russelville, Mo., still ranks as one of USC's all- time football greats. He played on the Trojan Rose Bowl teams of 1938 and 1939 that defeated Duke and Tennessee, respectively.

Duke was unbeaten, untied and unscored upon that year, until bowing to Southern Cal in the last 30 seconds, 7- 3. Tennessee had a string of 23 straight games without defeat before going down, 14- 0.

Nicknamed "Blackjack" in his playing days, Smitty was picked on the National Football Hall of Fame in 1955. He also was named to the Associated Press 50- year all- America team.

Smith joined the Missouri football staff as Don Faurot's aide in 1941-- and eventually logged 20 years as a Tiger assistant under Coaches Faurot, Frank Broyles and Dan Devine.

He also was a freshman football coach at his alma mater for two years-- and head coach of the Saskatchewan Rough Riders in the Canadian league for one season. His Saskatchewan team went to the Grey Cup finals that year.

By The Associated Press

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1962, a dangerous U.S.-Soviet confrontation eased as Moscow announced that Russian missiles were being withdrawn from Cuba.

On this date —

In 1636, Harvard College was founded in Massachusetts

Ten years ago: The United States joined Britain in warning the government of Rhodesia against proclaiming independence without the consent of the majority of its black population.

Five years ago: Premier Golda Meir's Labor Party was returned to power in a general election in Israel.

One year ago: Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said relationships between Peking and Washington had in no way been affected by the Watergate scandal.

Thought for today: You cannot build a reputation on what you are going to do — Henry Ford, American industrialist, 1863-1947.

Welfare demands special session

JEFFERSON CITY - A special legislative session is now a certainty for the latter part of November. This will be the second such special session for the 77th General Assembly.

The main reason is to appropriate additional money for state welfare payments. According to the Division of Family Services, there is only $1.9 million left in the fund for state supplemental income payments which are due the first of each month. On Dec. 1, a $3.8 million payment is due, and, therefore, can not be made unless additional funding is approved.

The legislature appropriated the amount recommended by the governor, but his estimate was substantially in error. Now the governor says an additional $25.9 million will be needed to complete the fiscal year ending in June 1975.

Legislators have been particularly concerned about welfare programs and problems during the last year. Several instances of fraud and error were revealed last spring.

Those reports indicated that in 1973 Missouri ranked 21st in the nation in error rates. About 14 per cent of all aid to dependent children recipients were overpaid.

A special House committee last spring investigated these charges and in June released a comprehensive report recommending changes in program management.

Now a special House Appropriations subcommittee is working to make sure changes are being made to eliminate welfare mismanagement and waste within the department as well as among the recipients. The chairman of the subcommittee, Russell Goward, D-St. Louis, indicates the Social Services Department has implemented several suggestions of the House committee and is following guidelines outlined in the committee report.

Among changes already in effect are a reduction in paper work within the division, a training program for personnel within the division and evaluation of supervisory positions to determine the necessity of each.

Perhaps most importantly there has been a decentralization of authority. Local and county offices have been granted more decision making power. This should make it easier to eliminate delays and make local offices more responsibe to local needs.

Goward noted, "There are stell many procedures which need to be changed. For instance, at the present time, caseworkers are responsible for reinvestigating their cases to determine continuing eligibility. Many caseworkers are handling 200-250 cases. This investigation is simply impossible. I believe a separate investigating unit should be established to make these checks.

"I am also going to reintroduce a bill I have sponsored in previous session on welfare fraud. It is difficult to believe that Missouri has no state laws directly relating to welfare fraud. Until recently there has not even been an active interest in prosecuting those who have defrauded the state of money desperately needed by others."

Goward continued, "I also plan to introduce a bill establishing an attorney general's office for the Social Services Department. We need a legal staff specializing in welfare fraud and making sure that this large portion of state revenues is bing used in the best possible way.

"In many cases local prosecuting attorneys have paid little if any attention to prosecuting such cases. This is mainly because of lack of time and staff. This kind of staff in the Social Services Department would bring the type of expertise needed to help clear up mistakes within the department."

The other subcommittee members include Raymond Quarles, D-St. Louis, Harold Volkmer, D-Hannibal, Joe Holt, D-Fulton, Harold Reisch, R-Columbia, and William Raisch, R-Affton. The subcommittee met recently in Jefferson City with welfare officials, and its members said they were pleased with the progress made so far in implementation of recommendations.

The subcommittee will also be looking into the area of state medicaid payments and will be developing related legislation for the session which begins in January.

Goward concluded, "We believe the people of Missouri are demanding state money be spent as efficiently as possible. We believe taxpayers want the hungry to be fed and the poor to have clothing and shelter. But the credibility of the administration of welfare programs has been destroyed. Taxpayers feel many are taking advantage of the programs available.

"We must reduce fraud, deception and waste. Now is the time. Especially during this time of inflation, we are all aware of the necessity for efficient governmental operations., That's what our subcommittee is working to obtain."

FREDERICA VON STADE ANSWERS PARIS SOS

NEW YORK (AP) — In response to an urgent plea from Rolf Liebermann, general manager of the Paris Opera, American mezzo-soprano Frederica von Stade has readjusted her schedule to sing Cherubino in Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" for the opening of the Paris Opera season.

Miss Von Stade will fly to Paris and back in five days, between engagements with the New York Philharmonic and the San Francisco Opera.

She scored an enormous hit as Cherubino in March 1973, when the Paris opera reopened after a long period of being closed. This fall she will be replacing Spanish mezzo-soprano Teresa Berganza, who is ill.

Miss Von Stade will be soloist in the Mahler "Fourth Symphony" during the opening week of the New York Philharmonic season. In San Francisco she will be rehearsing the title role in Rossini's "La Cenerentola," which she will sing for the first time in her career Oct. 17.

'Home Health Care Week' proclaimed in Missouri

Sikeston Mayor Frank Ferrell has joined Gov. Christopher Bond in proclaiming Nov. 4-9 as "Home Health Care Week".

In his proclamation, Mayor Ferrell notes that the function of the 33 certified home health agencies in Missouri is the deliverance of the best quality health care to all citizens regardless of their ability to pay.

He also emphasizes that these agencies are able to provide a wide range of health services to any citizen under a physician's care in his own home.
